Anglin Hits 'Mismanagement;' School Board Races Warm Up

Sixth Ward Dems Rally At School

More Service Needed, Candidate Says

Lashing out at the "mismanagement and poor planning" of the present city administration, Democratic Mayoralty Candidate Charles O. Anglin last night said total city expenditures in 1948 exceeded two and a half million dollars, or approximately $58 per person.

"With these high figures the least we should have is some efficiency in the different services of the city," he told more than 75 Sixth ward Democrats at a rally at Hedges school.

"But we don't have even that," he added. 'Over a month ago the commissioner of streets said there was not enough money appropriated to take care of the repairs to the streets. At the same time the water department was lacking in funds because not enough was appropriated to take care of salaries in the other departments. And in today's paper we read the police can use only one cruiser except in emergencies because they have no funds."

"If I last only one term as mayor I'll see to it that Mansfield's government is run correctly and efficiently," he promised.

Turning to the street construction issue, he cited a case where a taxpayer successfully circulated petitions to have his street paved but had to "quash" the petitions because he was told the estimate would be $12 per foot.

PROMISES COST CUTS

"It had cost this man only $3 per foot to pave his driveway with the same type of construction proposed for the street."

Red Troops In Canton

HONG KONG —(UP)— Unopposed Chinese communist troops entered the suburbs of abandoned Canton today and reliable reports said they were scheduled to stage a victory march into the former provisional nationalist capital this afternoon.

The news that Canton soon will fall to rampaging communist forces sent top government and military officials in this British crown colony into urgent meetings.

Hong kong lies only 80 miles southest of Canton.

A telephone message from the British consulate in Canton at noon said the city still was quiet but tense.

The communist entry was slated for some three hours later, a reliable source said.

Fair, Cool Period Seen

Blue skies and warmer weather greeted Mansfielders today as the temperature rose to 62 at 10:30 a. m. after falling to a chilly 43 at 5:30 a. m.

The weatherman said the northern part of Ohio would have fair weather today with highest temperatures around 70 and lowest tonight near 50. Saturday will be partly cloudy and somewhat cooler in the north portion. Sunday will be fair and rather cool in the north and mostly cloudy in the south, the forecast said.

Yesterday Mansfield temperatures reached a comfortable high of 64 at 2:30 p. m.

Candidates Quizzed On Athletics

Teachers Hold Open Meeting

Nine candidates for the Mansfield board of election were asked to explain why athletic coaches should receive from $400 to $2,500 more salary than regular teachers at an open meeting of the Mansfield Federation of Teachers last night.

Approximately 75 Mansfielders, most of them teachers, attended the meeting at John Simpson auditorium at which the nine candidates for the school board posts spoke briefly.

Referring to the issue of athletics versus academic training, Mrs. Howard Wenning, a candidate for the school board, said taxpayers have demanded winning football teams.

"But, she said, "we must be as interested in education as we are in winning football teams."

We fete our football teams; why don't we have banquets for honor students, art exhibits, and music festivals?" she asked.

"I am not criticizing the athletic department, but I wish to bring other departments up to its level," she added.

"It is a disgrace that band members must stand on street corners and beg for funds for equipment and uniforms," Mrs. Wenning said. "They are as much a part of the school system as athletics."

HITS GRADE PLAN

Another issue was brought into the open when Floyd F. Smith, assistant manager of the mining department of the Ohio Brass company, referred to the board of education's purchase of the Carpenter road property for office quarters at a cost of $80,000. He said the board could have bought two other properties cheaper, but members must have had reasons for their choice. He said he thought the board should have a public relations man to let the people know its reasons for such actions.

Smith also said he did not approve of the present grading system of "satisfactory" and "unsatisfactory" used in Mansfield elementary schools. He said he did not think it was an adequate indication of a pupil's progress.

R. Nelson Neff, president of Prospect P-TA and another candidate, said he believed the board should speed up the pro-

$72 Billion Damage Suit Sets Record

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — An outsize $72,100,000,000 suit — claimed to be the largest damage action in history—is on file in federal court here.

Arthur R. Van Wyke and A. E. Harrison, management consultants of Los Angeles, lodged the memmoth complaint yesterday, alleging that amount was their potential profit from a metellic lubricant which they were going to sell world-wide.

Defendants in the suit include Standard Oil company of California, A. D. Innis and associates, several former employes and 100 John Does. Earlier, Van Wyke and Harrison filed a $12,000,000 suit against Innis.

Van Wyke and Harrison, who claim ownership of about 70 per cent of the Innis stock, allege that the defendants interfered with their efforts to sell the metellic lubricant and caused the cancellation of an agreement to participate in profits from world-wide sale of the product.

They also claim that a sample of the lubricant was adulterated by defendants, injuring its reputation.

Vases Reported Stolen Near City

Two glazed vases were reported stolen last night from the home of Mrs. H. S. Baumberger, 2476 West Fourth street road, she reported to sheriff's deputies today.

The vases, two feet tall, were colored cream and orange, she reported.

Demand Is 'Fantastic'

Coal Operators Reject Proposal

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — (INS) — Soft coal operators rejected John L. Lewis' new contract proposal as "fantastic" today and were expected to ask for a recess in the negotiations to end the four-week mine strike.

George H. Love, head of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company, and chief spokesman for northern operators, declared that the bargaining talks are "futile" and "there is no use fooling the public"

Love said that Lewis' news conference announcement that the 375,000 striking miners wanted contract improvements that would increase coal costs 30 to 35 cents a ton was the first the operators had heard of the figure. He added:

"It's fantastic. We won't offer him a cent, not a nickel. There is no economic justification for it. The commerical operators have their backs to the wall. What we need are customers. You've got to sell coal before you can mine it and pay wages."

The United Mine Workers president declared that the miners would go back to work under "bonafide" federal seizure of the struck pits but he opposed any other form of government intervention.

Court Denies Rajk Appeal

BUDAPEST, Hungary — (AP) — Hungary's court of appeal today ruled that Laszlo Rajk, former communist foreign minister, and two fellow plotters must die for treason. They confessed conspiring to make their country a satellite of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

The court confirmed the three death sentences and also upheld prison terms decreed for three others who admitted conspiring with Rajk to overthrow Hungary's Moscow-backed regime. Two were given life imprisonment, the other a nine year jail term.

The sentences were imposed Sept. 24 by a Budapest peoples' court after a week's trial during which the defendants confessed at length to the government's charges.

In Progressive Mansfield

City Firms Boost Workers' Security

(Editor's Note: With miners, steelworkers and auto workers across the nation either striking or threatening to strike over various "security" demands, Miss Marguerite Miller of the News-Journal staff has taken a look at pension and retirement plans already in existence in Mansfield industries. She has found some outstanding examples of employer-employe cooperation and herewith presents the first in a series of reports.)

By MARGUERITE MILLER

With few exceptions, Mansfield's major industries have provided for the financial comfort of their employes upon retirement.

With one exception, the pension-retirement programs are non-contributory or company financed. Two major industries have incorporated home-ownership programs into employe benefits and at least two follow a profit-sharing plan.

For the most part, the smaller companies offer the most security to their employes upon retirement. Such a manufacturing concern is the Tappan Stove company where a profit-sharing and retirement program was started in 1943. Revised and liberalized early in 1948, the plan is now contributory based on the minimum matching of $1.50 from the company to every $1 saved by the employe.

It is also planned that a Tappan employe can save up to five per cent of his wages, not exceeding $250 in any one year. At the end of the year, and before taxes are deducted, the profit of the company is pro-rated and based on the employes' contributions.

For every $1 saved by employes at Tappans last year, the company added $3.67. Total contributions made into the fund by the company since 1943 is $1,436,592.

This fund can then be drawn on by the employes for three reasons. 1. If the employe is buying a home; 2. If the employe is renovating his home; 3. In case of emergencies. Since January, 1948, 53 employes have borrowed $99,967 to either buy or remodel their homes and $4,000 has been borrowed by employes on furlough from the company for emergency financial aid.

Every employe at Tappans has voluntarily joined the plan and is contributing. Money borrowed from the fund must be paid back by the employe.

When a employe retires from Tappans he can draw pension payments from his fund. Based on the continuance of good busi-

Tells of Red Atom Blast

PARIS — (UP) — The first atomic explosion in Russia occurred in the UST-URT desert July 10, 1949, with Generalissimo Josef Stalin an eyewitness, and the USSR. It was Silov who said Russia does not yet have a stockpile of atomic bombs. Major Boris Silov, a former officer in the Soviet army, said before sailing for South America.

Before Silov and two Russian companions sailed from Antwerp they answered a series of questions for a French correspondent about atomic bombs in the USSR. t was Silov who said last July that Russia did have the atomic bomb—a dispatch which was published in the July 30 issue of Samedi Soir.

Airmen Will Deny Charges

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The air force will deny navy claims that it is pinning all its hopes in any future war on the giant B-36 bomber, informed defense sources said today.

These informants said Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington will point out to the House armed services committee next week that actually there will be only six B-36 groups included in the 48-group air force approved by President Truman.

Dedication Announced

New Friendly House Opens Wednesday

The new Friendly House building on North Mulberry street, will be dedicated next Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Plans for the ceremony were made at the monthly board meeting last night, at which Mark Wolcott, chairman, presided.

Norman L. Wolfe and Mrs. Aaron Goldsmith were named as co-chairman to arrange for the ceremonies.

The dedication will officially launch an open house for Mansfielders. Through Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. the structure will be open for public inspection.

Wolfe said today that the dedication ceremonies would be "very simple".

"We had at first thought that we would have all those who contributed to Friendly House take part," Wolfe said. "but after considering the matter, we decided that there would be more on the platform than in the audience, since thousands of Mansfielders have donated to the building, making it completely a community project.

"Therefore, we are going to make it a religious dedication with ceremonies brief and simple to allow those attending to spend most of the time going through the building."

There will be representatives of all faiths and the colored congregations in the city on the program, each talking briefly. Then the settlement house will be thrown open for inspection, Wolfe said.

Fugitive Charges Cruelty

A 20-year-old fugitive from Osborn prison farm was back at the farm today despite his protestations to captors in Camden, N. J. that he was treated "cruelly" at the honor camp.

Meanwhile, Acting Superintendent George J. Allarding of the Mansfield reformatory, said he could "see no reason for the basis of the statement," adding:

"I think the boy was putting up a front to keep from being extradited.

"I'm sure we would get repercussions if anything of that nature was going on. Osborn," he continued, "is one of our nicest camps."

Allarding said the fugitive, Samuel W. Tucker, refused to waive extradition when captured in Camden Sept. 21. However, Judge Rocco Palese ordered his extradition at the request of reformatory officials.

Tucker, who escaped from the farm June 7, 1948, told Judge Palese he walked away from the camp because he "couldn't take it any more." Tucker added he had lost 20 pounds in 20 days at Osborn.

The prisoner was received at the reformatory on Oct. 1, 1947 to serve one to 15 years for burglary in Franklin county.

Steel Peace Hopes Rise

Ching Praises Initial Results

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — A faint glimmer of hope appeared in the deadlocked steel strike picture today.

Peace-seeking government mediators announced exploratory talks in New York with Bethlehem Steel corporation had given them a "better understanding" of the company's position in the steel dispute.

Mediators said they found "basis for further discussion."

Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer — is the first company to confer with the mediators in their current effort to solve the 14-day-old steel walkout.

The conciliators want to reach a common meeting ground among the struck companies in order to start new joint bargaining sessions.

Negotiations broke off two weeks ago when the steel companies refused to bow to demands of the CIO-United Steelworkers for company paid pensions and insurance. The major steel companies insisted employes also pay some of the cost.

The government, which succeeded in delaying the strike three times, sat tight until last Monday. Then Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus Ching announced a new plan: The conciliators would travel around and talk to the various steel companies and the steelworkers.

Lawsuit Hits Ship Owners

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The husband of a woman who died in the Noronic fire today filed the first lawsuit against the Canada Steampship Lines, limited, of Toronto, in common pleas court here

Alfred Metzgar sued the steamship line for $100,000 for the loss of his wife, Constance, 29. Mrs Metzgar drowned in Toronto harbor when she jumped from the Noronic to escape the flames.

Attorneys Marvin C. Harrison and Victor Cohen represent Metzgar in the suit. They claimed 11 counts of negligence against the company and listed nine respects in which they said the ship was not seaworthy.

Czechs Extend Church Controls

PRAGUE — (INS) — The communist Czech parliament approved today by a unanimous show - of-hands vote two bills granting the Prague regime full administrative control over all churches.

The public galleries applauded the result of the voting which was considered a foregone conclusion.

The government opened its presentation of the bills with a slashing attack on Archbishop Josef Beran, the Vatican, and the Catholic hierarchy.

Communists 'Outlawed' In United States

NEW YORK—(AP)—Eleven top American communist leaders today were convicted of conspiring to teach the forcible overthrow of the United States government.

Immediately after the verdict, five defense attorneys and one of the defendants were convicted of contempt of court. Each was sentenced to six months in jail.

Eugene Dennis, 44, general secretary of the Communist party, who acted as his own counsel, was the defendant judged in contempt.

The five attorneys convicted of contempt were Harry Sacher of New York, Richard F. Gladstein of San Francisco, Louis F. McCabe of Philadelphia, George W. Crockett jr., of Detroit, and Abraham Isserman of New York.

Federal Judge Harold Medina remanded the 11 communist defendants to jail until 10:30 a. m. next Friday, when they will be sentenced. Their conviction, in effect, outlawed the U. S. Communist party.

Sentences were set at once for the attorneys.

Sacher and Gladstein received six months. Crockett was convicted under nine specifications and sentenced to four months on each to run concurrently. McCabe was given 30 days. Isserman was sentenced to four months.

Immediately after the verdict was announced in the tensely quiet courtroom, Judge Medina directed the court clerk to poll the jurors. The clerk read the name of the jurors and then the names of all 11 defendants. Each juror then confirmed the verdict as regards each of the defendants.

The communists did not move a muscle when the verdict was announced. They all sat erect. There was no sound in the courtroom.

Besides Dennis the defendants in the trial were: Jacob Stachel, 48, director of the propaganda and education division; Gilbert Green, 43, Illinois chairman; John Gates, 36, editor of The Daily Worker; Benjamin Davis jr., 46, New York City councilman; Gus Hall, 39, Ohio chairman.

Irving Potash, 46, CIO Fur Workers union official; Robert Thompson, 34, New York state chairman; John Williamson, 45, labor secretary; Henry Winston, 38, organizational secretary; and Carl Winter, 43, Michigan chairman;

Stachel, Potash and Williamson are foreign-born.

Defense attorneys and defendants said during the trial that their conviction will drive the party underground.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey, who prosecuted the communists, had warned that "if the communist party goes underground, the F.B.I. will go right along with them."

The outcome came with dramatic suddenness a little more than two hours after the jury resumed its deliberations this morning.

The jurors received the case at 3:45 p. m yesterday but failed to reach a verdict by 10:20 p. m. and were taken to a hotel for the night.

JURORS POLLED

Each juror replied "I do" to the question as to whether he found the defendants "guilty as charged."

Immediately following the polling, Defense Attorney Richard Gladstein interrupted when Judge Medina began to thank the jury.

Gladstein requested that the jury be asked if it had considered the evidence against each defendant "separately and individually."

Federal Judge Medina declined the request. "I have examined the rules and find they make no provision for such an interrogation," he said.

Then, Medina thanked the jurors, eight women and four men.

"I have already thanked you in my charge," he said. "You have performed a service here and deserve thanks for your careful attention to your duties."

Lilienthal Raps Secrecy On Atom

NEW YORK — (AP) — It's time to end "extremes of secrecy" and the "'Papa-knows-best' nonsense" about the atom bomb, says David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

Now that Russia has the A-bomb, he said last night, "We should stop this senseless busines of choking ourselves by some of the extremes of secrecy to which we have been driven." Such secrecy, he added, impedes "our own technical progress and our own defense."

Hot Grid Fight Seen

By FRED THARP
(N-J Sports Editor)

Another of the fine gridiron battles which characterize the 1949 Mansfield Senior high school football schedule is in prospect for tonight when the Tygers host the Euclid high school Jets at Arlin field.

The Tygers, undisputed leaders of the Ohio Scholastic conference, will be trying for their fourth straight victory while Euclid will be gunning to keep its four-game unbeaten string intact. Senior high dropped its first game.

Euclid holds victories over Ashtabula, Zanesville, Toledo Woodward and Cleveland Shaw.

With "fair" weather forecast, Ticket Manager George Sherman today predicted a crowd of more than 10,000 persons would be in the stands for the 8 p. m. kickoff. Sherman said that advance sale of tickets has been heavier than last week when 9,500 persons watched Mansfield trim Warren Harding, 20 to 0.

The four ticket gates at Arlin field will open tonight at 6:30.

An hour-long pep rally was staged this morning at Senior high school with Sam Vining as the featured speaker. The Tyger band played at the yell-session.

Coach Augie Morningstar said today that all of the Tygers were in tip-top physical condition for Euclid.

The marching Tygers will share half-time proceedings with the Euclid band tonight. The Tyger Booster club, in cooperation with Tappan Stove, has planned another unique show. However, in keeping with the policy of surprises the theme of the show is being kept a secret by Booster club officials

A cast of 30 youngsters will participate in tonight's program.

Seek Farm Bill Accord

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A country mile apart, representatives of the Senate and House were called together today to try to write a compromise farm bill. President Truman said he expects an agreement that he can sign into law.

At issue is the question of what size price supports millions of farmers may expect from the government for their crops.

The Senate stand is for a long range flexible system of support, with the props for basic crops ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity. The House wants flat 90 per cent supports.

Some members of Congress represented him as favoring 90 per cent of parity supports. But the President declined to comment on his views at a news conference yesterday, when he talked of getting an acceptable compromise.

Parity is a price calculated to give farmers a return on their crops in fair relationship to the prices of things—tools, clothes, etc.—they must buy. If prices of manufactured things in the cities drop, the parity level goes down.

MRS. AILEEN BENNINGHOFF TALKS TO COLONY CLUB

"Point of No Return," Novel By John Marquand, Reviewed At Dessert Meeting At K. of C. Home.

"The point of no return is a pilot's term, designating the point beyond which his fuel will not last for both his mission and the return trip home," said Mrs. Aileen Benninghoff, guest speaker at a dessert luncheon of Colony club yesterday, in explaining the title of John Marquand's best selling novel, "Point of No Return."

The Colony club met at the K. of C. hall with Mrs. Orla Reeves and Mrs. Erwin Loew in charge of the affair. Dessert was served from a long table decorated with lace cloth and an arrangement of fall flowers.

Before reviewing 'Point of No Return," Mrs. Benninghoff gave the group some background material on its author. She told how he has progressed from writing "slick" detective stories until the present when today "he is writing some of the most significant fiction in the world."

"He always gives us an authentic piece of writing" Mrs. Benninghoff said, 'because he writes about the people he knows best."

Marquand's novels, the reviewer explained, are always about wealthy people and there is always a strong note of satire in his protrayals. "He writes about people whose success was not dpendent wholly on what they themselves did about it, but upon their family connections and inheritances."

She explained that in Marquand's latest novel, his eighteenth, he develops a sense of mystery. The hero of the book and another character are both seeking the same excellent position. Marquand does not disclose the winner until the last page of "Point of No Return."

Mrs. Benninghoff, who has appeared before many Mansfield groups, then proceeded to summarize the book for her audience.

During the short business meeting at which time Mrs. Robert L. Ross, president, presided, it was announced that a semi-formal dance will be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Nov. 12, for club members. A children's style show at Westbrook Country club, sponsored by Prospect Mother's club was also announced for Oct. 24.

Schedule Of Events

SATURDAY

Wedding of Miss Adeline Colangelo, 195 Sycamore street, to Karl Kromphole, Crestline—exchange of nuptial vows at 9:30 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic church.

Open church wedding of Miss Margery Jane Wappner, 162 Gibson avenue, to Edward F. Kenerson, Cleveland—nuptials to be solemnized in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 7:20 o'clock.

SUNDAY

Formal wedding of Miss Dorothy Burton, 325 West Fourth street, and Robert Metzger, 711 Birch street, Ashland—nuptial vows to be spoken in the Grace Brethren church at 2:30 o'clock. A half hour recital of nuptial music to precede the ceremony.

WE CLUB

We Club members met Thursday evening with Mrs. Earl Beamer, 1388 Park avenue east road, as hostess. The home was beautifully decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. Beamer conducted the business session and Miss Annie Burger invited the group to meet at her home on Nov. 10. Cards were in play with prizes won by Mrs. Sylvester Case, Mrs. George Berg and Mrs. Wayne McFarland. Mrs. Clyde Stevick and Mrs. Eugene Fritz, guests, were presented with gifts.

Plan Children's Style Show

A children's style show will be presented at the Westbrook Country club on Monday, Oct. 24, under the sponsorship of the Prospect School Mothers' Club. This event is open to the public and will begin at 8 p. m. Cards will also be a diversion.

Youngsters selected to model are Sharon and Kenneth Brague, twins, Sharon Ackerman, Kenneth Rachel, John Burkhart, Judy Hazen, James Nichols, Lois Walker, James Kiser and Sally Schnittke.

Mrs. Robert Oberlin will serve as general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Chalmers Ellis, Mrs. Nels Blocker and Mrs. Elmer Hedeen.

The committee met this week at the home of Mrs. Oberlin, Westview Drive, to complete plans. The show will be presented by the M. O'Neil company, with Mrs. Russell Eckels of that store, in charge. Music will be furnished by Nels Blocker. Mrs. Harry Lytle will serve as narrator.

Also a highlight of the show will be a cosmetic demonstration by O'Neils, showing junior high school students how to use the proper makeup. Two students from Johnny Appleseed Junior high school will serve as models.

Members of the Mothers' club will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 19 at the school at 1:30 p. m.

SEEKEERS' CLUB

The Seekers Bible club met recently at the First Christian church with Mrs. Joe Bertka leading devotions. Eleven members were present and one guest, Mrs. Jay Chubbs, who led the lesson study. The next meeting will be held Oct. 26 at the home of Mrs. William Wachs, Millsboro road.

Guest Picnic Held At Locke Cabin Thursday

Members of the Child Conservation Club held a picnic supper at the Locke cabin at Clearfork Lake, Thursday evening. Mrs. Robert Alexander was hostess with Mrs. Jay Long assisting.

Guests of the evening were Mrs. George Maxwell, Mrs. William Flynn, Mrs. Paul Lee, Mrs. Warren Rupp, Mrs. Peter Zivkoff, Mrs. Foster Bell, Mrs. Charles Eaton, Mrs. Homer Beck and Mrs. Kenneth Wolfe.

Mrs. Donald May conducted the business meeting at which time it was voted to contribute to the Community Fund. Plans were made to hold a Halloween party for the school age children at the North Lake park pavilion on Oct. 28.

The committee announced that draperies had been placed in the nursery of the new Friendly House. Mrs. May gave an interesting report on the state convention of the Child Conservation League held in Columous recently. Mrs. Gaylord Farber, Mrs. Ward Holdridge and Mrs. May were in attendance.

The club held a picnic Oct. 9 at the North Lake park pavilion for their families with 91 in attendance. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl Brock, Nov. 10, with Mrs. David Ford as associate hostess.

Members of Ruth chapter, No. 17, O.E.S., will hold a meeting Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic Temple. This will be followed by a program in charge of Mrs. Harry Brumfield and Mrs. Charles Kerr.

Mrs. R. H. Emerson To Head Pilgrim Guild For New Year

Mrs. R. H. Emerson will preside as president of the Pilgrim Guild of the First Congregational church for the coming season, according to report by the nominating committee. Assisting her will be Mrs. D. J. Shelley, vice president; Mrs. C. W. Marchant, secretary; and Mrs. K. L. Woodman, treasurer.

Twenty-eight members convened at the parish house this week for a luncheon at 1 o'clock. Four new members, Mrs. Rex Larson, Mrs. Albert Merkle, Mrs. Ian Seeds and Mrs. J. G. Pastorek, were introduced by Mrs. Alex Fraser.

Mrs. F. A. Hoffman presided for the business session and stressed the need for old fashioned religion, especially in the home.

Mrs. H. N. Keene was introduced as the guest speaker. A member of the Astowela Garden Club, Mrs. Keene gave an interesting talk on "Gourds". The next regular meeting is scheduled for Nov. 8.

School Levy Study Made In Crawford

Rural Board Units Hear Explanations

BUCYRUS — Approximately 50 members of Crawford county rural school boards attended a meeting last night at the courthouse here and heard explanations of revenues available schools during the coming year and revisions in school legislation.

Speakers were County School Supt. S. K. Sollars, County Auditor Frederick Klein and County Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon.

Klein pointed out the new real estate valuations will have no effect on revenue produced on tax levies outside the 10-mill limitation. The reappraisal, which was completed recently raised real estate values an average of 21.1 per cent on a county-wide basis.

The new tax duplicate, containing the increased valuations, has been submitted to the state tax commission for approval, Klein said. Approximately $1,335,000 was collected last year in Crawford county, including $985,000 in real estate taxes and $350,000 in personal property assessments.

Among the revisions in school legislation pointed out by Supt. Sollars and Prosecutor Scanlon were an increase in school board members' pay from $20 to $36 annually; granting of 15 days' sick leave annually to regular teachers with the sick leave accumulating to a maximum of 90 days; and the right to pay expenses of teachers when they attend educational conferences.

$2,500 Galion Suit Settled

BUCYRUS — The $2,500 action for money of E. L. Hough, Galion, against the city of Galion has been settled and dismissed with prejudice, Court Clerk Joe M. Royer reported here today.

Hough alleged the city of Galion's failure to keep culverts open in city-owned property adjoining his lot resulted in water draining onto his property. He alleged the foundation of his home was weakened by the overflow, which flooded his basement on several occasions.

Galion city council recently passed an ordinance authorizing the payment of $500 to Hough for damages to his property, court attaches reported.

Galion Fines, Jails Unlawful Train Rider

GALION — Charles Thomas Williams, 47, was fined $15, and costs when tried this week on a charge of unlawfully riding trains. He was committed to jail until the fine and costs are paid, or until otherwise discharged. The warrant for his arrest was filed by Erie railroad police.

City police arrested Williams Tuesday evening after he rode into Galion on top of a passenger train which he boarded at Mansfield.

Ickes Raps Californian

WASHINGTON — (UP) —Harold L. Ickes Thursday accused Sen. Sheridan Downey, D., Cal., of giving perjured testimony before a Senate investigating committee.

Ickes, former secretary of interior and self-styled curmudgeon, made the charge as Downey faced him across the Senate interior committee table. Ickes suggested that the attorney general take "apprpropriate action."

Ickes labelled as "false" Downey's sworn testimony that reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus exerted "political pressure" against Straus' predecessor Harry W. Bashore and forced him to resign.

"That testimony of Sheridan Downey is false," Ickes said. "And, since it was given under oath, perjured."

Downey's testimony was given in the course of a committee investigation he had requested of his charges that Straus and other reclamation officials are guilty of inefficiency and 'corrupt misrepresenation."

Establishes Bond For UE Workers

WARREN — (AP) — Common Pleas Judge F. H. Birrell has set bond of $500 each for four union men held on contempt of court charges growing out of the four-month-old strike at the Taylor-Winfield corporation plant.

Among those held was Frank Motter, president of the CIO United Electrical Workers local. Firm officials reported today that 36 of 154 striking production workers have returned to work.

Blazing Leaves Bring Fire Call

Another leaf fire brought Central station firemen out at 3:50 p. m. yesterday to Rowland avenue, north of West Third where burning leaves had scorched paint on an auto parked nearby.

Chief L. J. Steele said he did not know how the fire was started. Ownership of the car was not known.

At 5:25 p. m. the entire equipment from Central station wended its way through heavy traffic to answer a "false alarm" at East Temple court and North Main street.

Sons of Italy Schedules Dance

The annual Columbus Day dance, sponsored by the Mansfield-Order. Sons of Italy, will be held Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Eagles hall, it was announced today.

Tom Santoro is serving as chairman of the affair which which will include entertainment as well as dancing, he said.

Galion Adds Extra School Rooms; Teachers Given OK

GALION—Approval of the appointment of several teachers, and the addition of an extra room in each of three elementary schools in order to relieve over-crowded conditions, was action taken by the Galion Board of Education at its October meeting.

The meeting was held last night at Senior high school in the office of Supt. M. E. Shank.

The administration had solved its problem of overcrowded conditions in the three schools several weeks ago, and needed the board's approval on teacher appointments and room additions. In some instances the rooms were added by using a teachers' rest room.

Teacher appointments approved are as follows:

Mrs. Jean Allenbach, of 223 South Boston street, who is teaching a third grade at the West elementary school. She was graduated from Western Reserve university and taught for three years in Euclid Lyndhurst school in Cleveland. Mrs. Phyllis Harrod of Galion, Route 3 appointed to the second grade at the East school. She is an Ohio State university graduate. Last year she taught at the Perkins Elementary school in Erie county.

Mrs. Florence Morgan, of the Winchester road, is teaching the fifth grade at the North school. She received her training at Pittsburgh Training School for Teachers and for nine years taught at McKelvey school, Pittsburgh.

The resignation of Mrs. Fred Evans as elementary physical education teacher and librarian was received by the board. To fill the vacancy, the board hired Ernest Cook. He was graduated from Findlay college, is married and has two children.

Legislation which provides one and one-fourth days per month of service and which will accumulate to 90 days if unused, was approved by the board. The law becomes effective Oct. 25, and recently was passed by the state legislature.

MUD HANDICAP IN NATIONAL HORSE-PULLING CONTEST — Straining for national horse-pulling honors at Hillsdale, Mich., in driving rain and fetlock deep in mud, this team from Ithaca, Mich., failed in pulling an equivalent of 3,400 pounds as one horse falls to the ground. Team owned by Earl Ruby of Eaton, Ohio, was the winner. (AP Wirephoto).

Garver Warns Children Of Hazards In Leaf Fires

Lt. Robert Garver of the Mansfield Police traffic department spoke to children of Hedges school yesterday in the first safety program of the year.

Lt. Garver emphasized the slogan for the meeting, "It is dangerous to play with matches" by pointing out the hazards of setting leaves on fire and of children hiding in leaves in the street.

Miss Catherine Croushore, Hedges teacher in charge of safety, talked briefly about the objectives of the meeting, reviewing the safety phases which the school will undertake during the year.

A play, "Five Little Matches" was presented by pupils of the fourth grade taught by Miss Edith Stuckey. Pupils in the play were Phillip Brumm, Roberta Eilenfield, Donald Phipps, Martha Zellner, Helen Fredericks, Penny Milligan, David Reiter, Chester McNutt and Buddy Folk. Marjorie Sharrock acted as prompter.

George Taylor, school principal, summed up the various points of safety made at the meeting.

"They all emphasize today's slogan—"It is dangerous to play with matches,"' he said.

Downgraded

CHICAGO — (INS) — The International City Managers' association reports that 22 cities were graded downward by the National Board of Fire Underwriters this year because they failed to meet fire defense standards. Twenty-three others were up-graded.

Fellowship Fete Monday

MILLERSBURG — A Men's Fellowship meeting will be held at the Church of Christ here on Monday evening, beginning with dinner at 7 served by the church and Bible school women.

This meeting is sponsored by the Churches of Christ in this area. On the third Monday of each month the men gather in one of the churches for dinner and a worship service. Rev. Rollin W. Dunahugh is pastor of the local church.

At the last meeting in Killbuck the men voted to investigate the possibility of purchasing a site for a Christian Service Camp for the training of young people.

Youth Program Set By Savannah Church

SAVANNAH — Carolyn Spears will direct the 6:30 p. m. Sunday Christian Union in the United meeting of the Young People's Presbyterian church here. It will be in the form of a play and radio program. Interested adults are invited.

he union evening service will be held in the Federated church with Rev. Charles A. Vellenga, Presbyterian pastor, speaking on "The Seventh Commandement."

On Monday the United Presbyterian Brotherhood holds its first fall meeting in the church basement at 8 p. m. The Women's Presbyterial will meet Tuesday in the Fresno church for an all day meeting.

Anglin Asks Cost Cuts

"Some people in the Sixth Ward have been denied a sewer system," he declared. "In other places the sewer system is inadequate; they haven't been cleaned for a number of years. I will not only clean these sewers but I will also find out if they are big enough. And if they aren't, I'll increase the city's engineering force, if necessary, to make them adequate."

Anglin also touched upon the traffic and parking situation which he termed as a "deplorable mess." He stated he would relieve the condition by building off-the-street parking lots with no added expense to taxpayers by using the parking meter collections and charging a "small fee" to park in the new lots.

"In 1939, during the last Democratic administration, your streets and other services were in excellent shape and we built up a surplus in the city treasury," he declared. "In 1949 these services are neglected and we have a big financial deficit. If elected we will restor these services and try our best to reduce this huge debt."

William Calhoun, Young Democrats club president, was chairman and introduced the Democratic slate. He also delivered a short verbal attack on the proposed council-manager plan.

"Some people complain about our government being too bureaucratic. With the council-manager plan we remove the government of the people just one more step away from the people," he asserted.

City Firms Aid Workers

that after an employe has been with Tappans 25 years, he will have $17,000 based on the minimum ratio of payment, or if business "remains half as good as in 1948."

An employe with the company since 1943 had an average of $914 in his account prior to 1948. Based on the employe-company contribution for 1948 the same employe now has $1,880 credited to his profit-sharing and retirement fund.

In addition to the profit-sharing and retirement program, a cash bonus of one-half of the first $100,000 put into the profit-sharing fund each year is distributed to the employes at Christmastime. This $50,000 is distributed equally to workers and executives alike who have the option of either cashing the bonus or turning it back into their retirement fund where it will be credited to their account and prorated along with the next year's contributions.

Mrs. Effie Cotter, Lifelong Richland Resident, Dies At 79

SHELBY — Mrs. Effie Cotter, 79, wife of Seth and who lived at 10 Fourth street, died at 6:15 p. m. Friday in Memorial hospital here following a lingering illness. A native of Springfield township, Mrs. Cotter had been a lifelong Richland county resident and was a member of the First Church of Christ here.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are a son, Glenn, of Casa Grande, Ariz.; a daughter, Mrs. F. E. Wetz of Shelby, and four grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Monday in the Dye funeral home here with Rev. Simon Dividian, Church of Christ pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Ontario cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon and evening.

gram to relieve overcrowded conditions in some city school buildings. He added he thought there should be greater attention paid to the "three R's" of education.

The other candidates made general statements emphasizing their desire to serve on the board because of their interest in children and giving their qualifications for the position.

Others who spoke included W. O. Leedy, up for re-election; Kenneth H. Cadigan; F. A. Berkey; Richard H. Wolford; Carl L. Stough; and Harold L. George.

Prior to the introduction of the candidates Alvin O. Preyer, chairman of the Citizens committee, discussed the proposed council-manager form of government, and Dr. Edwin Fensch, director of research in Mansfield schools, explained the three-mill levy up for renewal this fall.

John Kramer, Mansfield attorney; William Locke, former mayor; and Rev. Matthew Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, discussed the qualifications most needed in a school board candidate.

Among the qualifications mentioned were ability for the position, the willingness to accept criticism and try to remedy the situation if criticism is justified, and the desire to do a good job.

Ensil McNabb, president of the federation, president, and W. Brooks Huber served as chairman of the program.

Describes Terror As Reds Near Canton

Newsman Gives On-Scene Report of China Crisis

Editor's Note: The last remnants of the Chinese Nationalist government abandoned Canton to the communists yesterday. United Press Correspondent Arthur Goul flew to Hong Kong and from there wrote of the conditions, the burst of gunfire, the resort to force and threats, the emergence of the communist underground at Canton. His dispatch follows.)

By ARTHUR M. GOUL

HONG KONG — (UP) — I left Canton a little while ago on one of the last planes to take off from the White Cloud airport there before it was closed down in token of the Nationalist abandonment of the great South China city to the communists.

My plane was delayed an hour after it was loaded by nationalist soldiers and non-paying passengers forcing their way abroad, only to be dragged off by airport police.

The White Cloud field was a scene of turmoil and hysterical efforts by some nationalist soldiers to commandeer planes for flight from the provisional capital which the communist armies were approaching.

Passengers on one or two commercial planes were forced at gunpoint to give up their seats to armed soldiers. A Central Air Transport corporation Convair liner and a C-47 were halted, then came under nationalist gunfire as the nationalists tried to prevent their takeoff.

When they landed at Hong Kong, the ships bore several Tommy gun bullet holes near the pilots' compartments. None abroad was injured.

The plane in which I left with CATC staff members ran afoul of arguments and implied threats by nationalist remnants clambering abroad. The stubborn Chinese pilot refused to take off until the extras were forced off.

All air lines had been warned at noon to be out of Canton by 5 p. m. But at that hour commerical planes still were loading, and, surprisingly, some planes were arriving with full loads.

Pilots of two CATC planes said airport immigration squads, charged with checking the exit visas of foreigners and residents' certificates, sought to force the pilots to fly them to Chungking.

The pilots' steadfast refusal brought them a hail of machine gun bullets as the ships sped down the runways for takeoffs.

Tonight, Canton was an abandoned city, dangling in a vacuum, waiting between the nationalist and the communist regimes.

The communists were expected in Canton by Saturday, if not earlier. They were only a little way north, and could move down on the city as fast as their convenience dictated.

The last vestiges of the nationalist government, which had fled to Hong Kong last spring when a communist surge across the Yangtze enveloped Nanking moved out this evening.

The staff of the so-called pacification command boarded chartered river boat for Hong Kong, an intermediate stop on the way somewhere else.

The last traces of the central government as such disappeared when a plane carrying the ministry of national defense flew off into the fog-laden skies above the White Cloud air field.

Huddle Quits Post As U. S. Ambassador

WASHINGTON — (AP) — J. Klahr Huddle, U. S. ambassador of Burma and U. S. Representative on the United Nations commission for India and Pakistan, resigned both posts yesterday.

Studies 5 Youth Plans

The Youth committee of the Rotary club Wednesday night discussed five possible youth projects to be recommended to the club, Chairman Maurice W. Taylor said.

Included in the discussion was the creation of public interest and support of a juvenile detention home apart from the county and city jail; the sponsoring of a coordinating council of youth serving agencies; programs in child health and physical fitness; juvenile delinquency and parental education and citizenship training and education of youth in international understanding.

Dog Bites Boy

Mrs. Elliott Porter, 195 East Fourth street, reported to police shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday that her five-year-old son, Elliott jr., was bitten by a dog. Police ordered the animal's owner to tie the dog for 10 days.

Gambler Mickey Cohen Loses Another Bodyguard, Car

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Gambler Mickey Cohen has lost another bodyguard.

The dapper Cohen told officers that little Dave Ogul, 30, has been among the missing since Monday afternoon. One of Cohen's Cadillacs also has vanished.

Ogul's effects were found intact in his apartment, Cohen said, adding that he fears the former New Yorker has been slain.

Cohen fears the same fate for another aide, Frank Niccoli, who disappeared without a trace six weeks ago. His car was found at an airport.

A third pal of the gambler, Edward (Neddie) Herbert, was shot to death July 20 in an assassination attempt on Cohen.

Like Cohen and other of his henchmen, Ogul is under bond to appear Jan. 16 on a charge of assaulting a radio shop owner. Cohen, free under $100,000 bond, said he put up $50,000 bond for Niccoli and $25,000 for Ogul.

Hearing on exoneration of Niccoli's bond has been set for tomorrow. If he is not produced, Cohen may be forced to forfeit bail.

Two other members of Cohen's clan drew jail sentences this week. Dominick Farinacci got six months for possessing a machine gun and John Stompanato 60 days for associating with known criminals.

Cohen's pal, Harold (Happy) Meltzer, is facing federal charges of making false statements to customs officers at a port of entry.

Police Holding Woman's Purse

The police department has a woman's purse with a considerable amount of money in it, but no identification.

The purse was found Wednesday on North Main street by Mrs. C. U. Bonnette, of 216 West Dickson avenue, and turned over to police. The owner may have the purse by identifying it at police headquarters.

Sound Sense In Taft's Address

THE ONLY REGRET, in connection with Senator Robert A. Taft's talk in Mansfield yesterday, is that it was not heard by many thousands of the people of this city and vicinity rather than by only a few hundred in attendance at the joint meeting of Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs.

His talk was so plain, so understandable and so convincing, and his sincerity was so apparent, that few if any of his hearers could doubt the advantages of the national course which he advocates instead of the trend toward extension of federal government control over industry, business, and agriculture—and resultant hampering of individual freedom, such as is being imposed upon the people of England under the socialist-labor regime.

Explanation of a number of the administration-sponsored proposals leading toward extension of government controls was a part of the address, with emphasis on the unpredictable costs of such a program.

In the face of such a frank, factual recital by a recognized authority on national affairs, there is an element of absurdity in a remark recently made by James "Caesar" Petrillo, czar of the musicians' union, at a meeting of his union in Hoboken, N. J. Quoting Mr. Petrillo: "Mr. Taft, in 1950 we're going into Ohio, and believe me, there will be nothing we won't do to knock your silly head out of the U. S. Senate and keep it out."

Information is also to the effect that leaders of some union labor groups are planning to direct unlimited funds into the 1950 Ohio campaign in an effort to defeat Senator Taft, because of his association with the Taft-Hartley law.

If the lines are to be so drawn the re-election of Mr. Taft will be more assured than were the division of votes to be along political party lines.

An Appreciation of Ben Forkner

EXEMPLIFICATION of an unusual number of the traits which stand high in making "a good life" is found in considering the fine contribution which Ben W. Forkner made to this community during the almost 45 years of his residence in Mansfield.

Quiet and unassuming in manner, but capable in his work and earnest in the furtherance of varied constructive activities, to which he gave liberally of time, effort and financial support, Mr. Forkner made for himself a place in this community which will long stand as an example of the influence that can be exerted by one person who regards service to others as a part of his duties and privileges.

Religion played a large part in development of qualities of character which Mr. Forkner displayed in admirable ways in all of his associations, with his church always in the forefront of interest.

The Boy Scout movement, as it was introduced in Mansfield, gained his active participation in leadership, as did also the YMCA, which he served faithfully and well for many years.

As is inescapable in human affairs, deep sorrow came into the family circle of Mr. Forkner, but the faith which had been manifest throughout his lifetime was evidenced during that dark period.

This community suffers a distinct loss through the death of Ben Forkner, for, as is being sincerely said by many of those who knew him well, "he was a good man."

Why Not Write That Letter?

THAT LETTER—the one you have been intending to write to a relative or friend, but have been "putting off" because you have been so busy with other things.

Well, starting next Sunday, a week is to be devoted to urging that you make a special effort to write and mail the letters that are long overdue.

Letters from absent children to their parents are always highly appreciated, and keeping up correspondence with friends also provides much pleasure and retains friendships.

Practice in letter-writing by school children can be made a valuable part of education and next week can well be made a special period of activity along this line.

Things Young Driver Should Learn

THE CONTRIBUTION of the youthful automobile driver to the highway accident rate is receiving much study from people who work with highway safety. At the recent national conference on high school driver education, a chief conclusion was that high school education in driving would go far toward solving the problem.

The many unjustified risks taken by the young driver mostly stem from lack of responsibility, it was decided, and better education might help to supply that lack. This sounds reasonable. Greater parental interest in the youngsters' driving habits might help, too.

This new book, "The Ohio", looks almost as long as the river itself, but then maybe it flows along as smoothly, too.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Pensions Go Beyond Mere 'Bargaining'

DURING the current strikes a good many people are seriously asking whether pensions are, after all, an appropriate subject for collective bargaining.

In using the term "collective bargaining," they mean it in the usual sense of determining by mutual agreement between two parties—management and labor—the terms of a labor contract for a term of a year or two.

There is much to be said for this point of view, despite the fact that, under the pressure of governemtn, collective bargaining will temporarily settle this issue and fire up the furnaces once more.

The reasons why collective bargaining by management and labor is no solution for pensions are numerous and important.

One is that a principle is involved which, once agreed upon, goes far beyond the terms of a one- or two-year contract. It involves policies which must be carried on by future union leaders and managers, long after Murray and Fairless are in their graves. The steel companies are called upon to mortgage a long future. That is not the case when wages and hours are determined by agreement.

Another point is that the pension demand, if agreed to, involves many more interests than those of the bargaining parties. It is a charge upon a long series of consumers. It is, in effect, a continuing tax upon the whole economy, extending far beyond the term for which excise taxes are ever levied.

In fairness, all those who pay should be parties to the bargain. But the practical difficulties involved make such general agreement out of the question. This point is theoretical but nevertheless important.

* * *

Coordination Necessary.

IN SUCH cases where a generality of interests is involved, government becomes the appropriate representative of the public interest. But this government — the Truman administration —has long since surrendered its trusteeship of the public interest. It has allied itself with one party to the dispute.

The interests of politics have supplanted the constitutional ideal of the general welfare. This point, too, is theoretical but deeply significant.

On another and most important side the government has a responsibility. This proposed pension — all private pension plans—must be considered in relation to all government pension systems and plans, federal and state.

Ultimately, there must be some coordination, some equalization in the name of justice. For otherwise we shall build a colossally powerful aristocracy of pensioners who draw privileged benefits merely because they happen to be employed in trades and industries with the power to throttle the whole economy with strikes.

Somewhere, sometime, there must be a national commission comprising many interests, non - political and impartial and under the sponsorship of Congress, to consider the whole issue and to make recommendations to all concerned.

Finally, in a pension system the sacredly important issue of trusteeship is profoundly important. Under long-established and wholly wise tradition, when values are involved which extend beyond the lifetime of those who create such values, a trustee is required—independent of beneficiaries and benefactors.

They must see that the terms of the bequest, grant or benefit are honestly and rigorously preserved and enforced. The Lewis welfare scheme makes only a feeble gesture in that direction. Actully, the Lewis beneficiaries are the trustees, a travesty of trusteeship.

* * *

Administration Problem.

ARE these new accumulations to be administered by the companies collectively or individually? By the unions and companies jointly or by someone else? If by unions, what is their responsibility?

The only real requirement that they be financially responsible is in Taft-Hartley, about which the Truman government and the unions are howling for repeal.

If, under joint duress by government and unions, the companies agree to a plan which they know to be a fraud, how can they in conscience participate in its management? They know, and every person who can use a pencil must know, that an adequate pension cannot be bought with a few cents an hour. What honest man could act as trustee for "pie in the sky"?

Such issues are not fit subjects for collective bargaining under duress.

The Old Professor

By LOIS ADAMS BYERS

THE BOYS and I went to call on their father's English teacher. Always at our home, there has been a legendary character, whose career as a college professor was mentioned with veneration.

"It was L. L. Garber who taught us how to make our thoughts march," my husband would comment. "You remember him?"

"I never met the man, but you pointed him out to me—a thin wisp of a man on a high-wheeled old-fashioned bicycle, riding along the streets of Ashland (Ohio)."

* * *

A DIM light shone from the old house opposite Ashland college I stopped on the porch, with the four boys in tow, and we looked through the glass door into a room lined with books. The single shaded lamp illumined a desk. A lean dark shadow of a man could be half-discerned, reclining in the chair with back toward us, his feet high on the desk top. The top of a sleek head was just visible.

I tapped timidly, having pressed the button and heard no answering jingle. The shadow leaped up, switched on an overhead light, threw the door open.

A finely chiseled old face, alert, eager, half-familiar — a warm firm grip, "Come in, come in!"

I told who I was and introduced the boys, youngest first. They stood like stairsteps while kindliness filled the little room and the old man's keen glance took in the situation.

"So these are Calvin's boys! Well, boys—glad you've come."

"Their father was always grateful to you for making literature come alive for him," I said. "Did we disturb you, perhaps?"

"Oh, no; I was just listening to a radio discussion."

"I'm curious as to what programs you enjoy."

He laughed. "Most all of them ," and I believed him, too. He had an artist's face—an artist's warm enthusiasm, stimulating curiosity, contagious joy. He had shared emotion and music for many years and kept for himself the best qualities of childhood. So he knew how those boys felt, awkward with a new emotion, unexpectedly sweet. They will never forget their father's teacher!

"Read lots of good books, boys," he said at parting. "It's your job to climb on your father's shoulders . . . let me know how you get along, please do."

It was a happy occasion. "Time cannot bend the line that God has writ," said Thoreau. "The hours that make you happy make you wise."

Truman Turns Sour Against Anderson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Only a few insiders know it, but President Truman has turned sour against his former secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson. In fact, the other day the President hurled his favorite insult against Anderson, now serving in the Senate from New Mexico. He called him a "big-interest man."

What prompted this bitter epithet was Anderson's fight aganst flat, 90 per cent farm supports.

The President had long suspected that Anderson was quietly knifing the Brannan farm plan, but the clincher came when Anderson urged a "compromise" 75 to 90 per cent, flexible price - support scale.

Anderson had spread the impression that the President was backing his compromise. Puzzled, a congressional visitor put the questions warily to Truman.

"In the Senate," he said, 'Elmer Thomas (of Oklahoma) quoted you as being for 90 per cent parity, while Dick Russell (of Georgia) said he understood you were against 90 per cent."

"I don't know how Dick got that idea," Truman broke in.

"Senator Anderson seems to have taken command," added the congressman. "Personally I don't care for Anderson's philosophy."

"As between Anderson's bill and straight 90 per cent parity," Truman continued, "I naturally favor 90 per cent because we campaigned on that basis."

The president added that, of all the farm bills that had come out, he liked Congressman Stephen Pace's the best, because the Georgia congressman had included the production payment feature of the Brannan plan.

Referring again to Anderson, the congressional visitor pointed out that big-interest men who pose as liberals are much more dangerous than out-and-out reactionaries.

"There is no question about that," agreed the President emphatically.

Note—Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan has been fretful over Anderson's opposition, but hasn't raised his voice against his former boss — because Charlie owes his job to him.

John L. Lewis Roars.

JOHN L. LEWIS was at his roaring best when the coal operators met with Federal Mediation Chief Cy Ching on their first try to settle the coal strike. While the meeting got nowhere, it certainly didn't lack sound effects.

The northern operators —led by Harry Moses, president of U. S. Steel's H. C. Frick company, and George Love, of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company—suggested that negotiations be based on Lewis's last contract, which expired June 30. The southern mine owners, led by Joseph Moody, didn't want to go this far, contending there should first be reforms in the welfare fund.

Boiling mad, Lewis thundered: "I will not discuss the old contract. Unless yo gentlemen are willing to talk about increased wages and payments into the welfare fund, as well as reduced working hours for the men who toil underground, there is no purpose in my remaining here."

Turning a baleful glare on Moses, Love and Moody, he added wrothily that he might have known he would be wasting his time endeavoring to deal with "these economic puppets of the United States Steel company and the Cleveland Trust company."

The operator trio chuckled. They had been called worse names than this by the eloquent miners' boss.

* * *

Captive Mines.

"WHY, you have no authority to speak for your bosses in U. S. Steel or the Cleveland Trust company," Lewis went on, referring to the Cleveland bank's interest in Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal and U. S. Steel's ownership of the H. C. Frick Co. "So, why do you waste my time? If it was a question of matching your authority in the United Mine Workers, I would send five of my local union presidents to deal across the table with you."

The operators reminded Lewis that he shouldn't accuse them of making no "offer" to settle the strike, since he had made no specific offer himself.

"I have labor to sell," replied Lewis. "It's up to the operators to bid for it."

* * *

Ching Gets Wordslide.

MEDIATOR CHING diplomatically remarked that the coal strike could never be mediated and settled until both sides showed a more cooperative attitude. But this provoked another wordslide from Lewis.

"What do you mean by mediation?" he demanded. "Why don't you use some on the operators to make them stop their high-handed oppression of labor?"

"I have no authority to make either side in this dispute do anything," replied Ching. "All I can do is bring you together and help you settle your differences."

"Then what are we talking for, if you have no authority?" bellowed John L. "Haven't you the interest of the American people at heart? Don't you know the difference between right and wrong?"

"Now, wait a minute," retorted Ching, curbing his temper. "No one is more desirous of seeing the coal mines back in production than I am, but this strike will never be settled without some give-and-take by both sides. I can only suggest and make proposals as we go along. I can't force either of you to accept anything. I'm no arbitrator."

On this note, the meeting finally broke up.

Note — There is little prospect of settling the steel strike until the coal strike is settled. For the steel companies won't start their furnaces until they are sure of coal.

Assignment: America

Those Peaceful Swiss

By INEZ ROBB

LOCARNO — This is another one of those famous cities the Swiss are always renting out from time to time to warring nations in need of another peace treaty or non-aggression pact.

The only active part the Swiss, who have a genius for minding their own business, take in such treaties is to collect beaucoup board and room from the delegates and solicit their business the next time they have peace on their minds.

In the past three days, however, I have seen ample evidence that the Swiss fully realize eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. From the Rhone Valley onwards, I have seen one Swiss military airfield after another, with their rows of hangars built half into the earth and neatly camouflaged.

The white concrete landing strips gleam like alabaster in the green Swiss valleys, and the roar of their planes in formation overhead echo back from the mountains.

Just before we reached Brig, we encountered large groups of trainees out on tank maneuvers. Scattered through the country, we have come across heavy concrete tank traps that my ex G.I. spouse says were certainly erected to discourage any would-be-invader during World War II.

I'm afraid both of us would have been sorely puzzled by the heavy steel doors we have noted chiselled into the granite walls of Alpine crags if we had not seen, the day before we left America, the first pictures released by the Swiss government showing the mountain fortifications installed during and since World War II.

Unless we had seen the pictures, the doors into the mountains would certainly have made no sense. But now we realize these doors open on tunnels in which nest artillery both great and small.

* * *

Peaceful But Prepared.

I CONFESS that I have never heard of a Swiss general in my life, unless Wilhelm Tell worked himself up to that rank. But since the nation has a form of universal military training, I suppose there must be a Swiss general someplace in the picture.

But since no Swiss general has ever been caught in a deep freezer or talking out of the wrong side of his mouth at a cocktail party, no one—naturally—has ever hard of Swiss brass.

Last night at Andermatt, a Swiss village that looks like a Shubert musical comedy set for a Graustark romance, we caught up with two Swiss Lieutenants and two captains as well as innumerable enlisted men.

There is a large military installation at Andermatt.

After dinner we drifted over to a small inn where we heard a hot accordion giving out with "The Beer Barrel Polka." The room was full of young boys in ill-fitting gray-green uniforms and shoes with the thickest soles I have ever seen.

I talked with a half dozen Swiss G. I.'s and we finally got around to Russia's possession of the atomic bomb or reasonable facsimile thereof.

One of the boys said he didn't think this fact would upset the Swiss.

"You drop a bomb on the Alps and what happens?" demanded this young philosopher. "It might rearrange them, but what good does that do? You've still got a lot of mountains left."

I agree with this Swiss junior Eisenhower. The Alpine barrier, as is or rearranged by the atom, is still one of the most formidable military obstacles known to man. Any one who would tackle it ought to have his head examined—and probably would have, by the Swiss.

In the meantime, this nation of 4,000,000 is armed, soldiered and at the ready. Within an hour, she can blow up every railroad tunnel within her border.

Furthermore, she has a secret weapon. It is, in fact, the only one she really needs. It is the one with which her ancient robber barons, whose vast and picturesque fortress-castles still dot her landscape, used so successfully to defend their domains.

All the Swiss need do to protect their country is to place a detachment of troops, plenty of fire-wood and a pot of pitch on every crag. Let the boys keep the pitch pot boiling and at first sight of an enemy, let some Swiss Casey lower the boom.

Dave Boone Says:

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, India's first prime minister, is paying us a visit and it's a great chance to see a leader of genuine stature, great dignity and spiritual glow. He's that rarity in the world scene, a leader of millions who doesn't act as if he thought everything depended on a big smile for the photographers.

* * *

He won't even pose fishing, putting a wreath on a race horse, judging a beauty contest or indorsing a channel swim.

* * *

Any modern-day leaders anywhere feel a little minor leaguish at capturing a following when they realize that it is routine stuff for Nehru to draw over a million people in India almost any time he talks.

* * *

Nobody would ever think of slapping Nehru on the back. I feel the world leaders of the future are going to be a lot on that pattern.

Nehru's Visit To U. S. Is Important

A DOZEN years from now we are likely to be reminding ourselves that arrival of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on his first trip to this country was a far-reaching event.

The prime minister of India is one of the outstanding leaders of our time. As head of this great new nation, with its population of more than 300,000,000, Nehru already is demonstrating a leadership which is making itself felt throughout Asia. His influence on world unity will be vast.

Therefore Nehru's visit to Washington becomes a matter of moment. For upon the impressions which this brilliant and highly sensitive guest forms may well depend future relations between the United States and an India which is going to play a dominant part in the development of the Orient.

Nehru, who will be 60 on the 14th of next month, not only was born into a family of great wealth but he is a Kashmiri Brahmin—the highest aristocracy of all India. He was educated in England. He attended Harrow, one of the country's famous "public" schools (really private) and at the University of Cambridge. Later he studied law in London and returned to his native land as a polished intellectual, who had the marks of genius.

At the outset he showed little interest in the independence movement, but soon he joined and thereafter devoted his whole life to the ideal. He became one of the most devoted disciples of Mohandas K. Gandhi and followed the saintly little mahatma faithfully in the drive for Indian independence until the latter's assassination on January 30, 1948.

The disciple, like the master, became a plague to the British and he was several times in prison, serving all-told some 13 years. Like Gandhi, Nehru toured the highways and byways of India to preach independence to the people until he became an object of hero worship among the masses.

Nehru is an internationalist and a socialist and is a bitter opponent of dictatorship. He is, however, what might be described as a middle-of-the-road socialist.

He believes in what he calls a "mixed economy" in which the state assumes management of key industries but still allows plenty of chance for private enterprise to operate.

And there you have the personality who now is getting his initial first-hand impressions of our country. As previously remarked, those impressions are going to be vastly important.

OVERHEAD ROUTE—An engineer's drawing of the proposed overhead highway, which would stretch from Rowmand avenue to Howard street, has been submitted to the city engineering department. The structure, which will carry four lanes of traffic, would give the north section of the city an unobstructed link with the west side and downtown areas. It would cost about $600,000 and would extend some 1,420 feet over the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads and Touby's Run. Such a project has been discussed in Mansfield for many years, but the cost has delayed action. The proposed overhead is still definitely in the "discussion stage," city officials said.

City Gets Rowland Avenue Viaduct Plan

A project talked about in Mansfield for about 25 years has finally reached the point where engineer's plans and estimates have been obtained.

The project — an overhead highway to give the north section of Mansfield an unobstructed link with the remainder of the city—would cost in the neighborhood of $600,000.

The proposed viaduct would extend some 1,420 feet from Rowland avenue to Howard street. It would span the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads and Touby's run.

The engineer's drawing of the proposed project shows an impressive structure with four-lane traffic and five-foot sidewalks.

Two bridges—one 226 feet long and the other 137 feet long —would span the two railroads. An earth embankment would fill the space between the two bridges.

The plans call for 24-foot traffoot traffic lanes separated by a four-foot cement strip to divide the north and southbound traffic.

In a written report to city council in December, 1948, City Engineer W. C. Statler said the best type of protected vehicular crossing from North Lake park to the north section of the city would be a concrete overpass. At that time he estimated the cost would be $600,000.

There is no crossing for vehicles between Trimble road and Bowman street, a distance of a mile and a half.

Residents of the north section of the city point out several reasons why such an overpass is needed.

For one thing, pupils at the city's school who live in the north section of the city cut across the tracks going to and from school.

Fire protection in the north section of the city is poor because of the few entrances to the area, and the danger of entrances being blocked by trains.

The north section has three streets linking it with the remainder of the city. The three streets are separated over an area of nearly three miles. That makes traffic heavy on these arteries.

To finance the proposed overpass council would have to ask the voters to approve a bond issue.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY—Miss Gayle Rife, afternoon supervisor at General hospital (at head of table) hands a piece of her anniversary cake to Wayne A. Hospital Supervisor Marks 25th Graduation Anniversary

Miss Gayle Rife, afternoon supervisor at Mansfield General hospital, celebrated the 25th anniversary of her graduation from General hospital's School of Nursing at a surprise party luncheon given by some of her hospital associates yesterday.

The honored guest was presented with an anniversary cake complete with 25 candles in honor of the occasion.

Miss Rife was graduated from the School of Nursing Oct. 13, 1924, and will have been a member of the staff at general 20 years next March.

She returned to Mansfield to accept a position as night supervisor at General hospital, a post she held until about four years ago when she became afternoon supervisor.

There was no formal program at the get-together yesterday, but Miss Rife and her associates spent the time reminiscing about the happenings of the past 25 years. Later in the afternoon Miss Rife went on duty as usual.

Attending the luncheon were Wayne A. Copeland, hospital superintendent; Miss Carrie Beal, supervisor of nurses; Mrs. Julia Raby, Miss Elaine Guiher, and Miss Naomi Linsenmayer, all instructors in the school of nursing; Miss Marian C. Charvat, hospital dietician; and Mrs. Bonnie Geib, assistant dietician.

Koch Faces New Trial

FRANKFURT, Germany, — (UP) — Ilse Koch, strawberry blonde "Witch of Buchenwald," will be tried by a German court for 29 murders and "hundreds" of assaults, authorities disclosed yesterday.

The fancier of lampshades made of tattooed human skin will complete next week a four-year term imposed by American authorities for her part in atrocities at the notorious concentration camp.

When she emerges from the Landsberg prison, German officials will be waiting to whisk her away to the women's jail at Aichach, near Munich. There she will wait for a German court at Augsburg to try her for crimes against German citizens at Buchenwald.

Before picking her up, officials will deliver an arrest warrant. It lists five counts of murder involving 29 persons, and five charges involving "hundreds of personal and instigated assaults on Buchenwald inmates.

Reveals Importance Of U. S. of Europe

Their federation, she said, would mark a great stride toward peace and prosperity for troubled Europe.

War-Weary Airplanes Used In Ravenna Safety Tests

CLEVELAND — (UP) — A spokesman for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics yesterday confirmed that the committee's airplane "crack-up" experiments at the Ravenna arsenal are hitting a high tempo.

The experiments, which involve the crashing of 'war weary" planes into concrete obstacles to make them burst into flames, are being conducted semi-secretly at the arsenal's experimental airstrip. The test results will be the basis of a NACA handbook for civilian and military airplane designers. The book will detail fire hazards and structural flaws in aircraft construction.

"We don't like to get the public aroused until we have something definite to tell," said J. D. Tousignant of the NACA publicity department. "That's why we picked Ravenna arsenal. Otherwise, the plane crackups would draw hundreds of people."

The pilotless planes are propelled along a steel rail under the watchful eye of NACA engineers and cameramen. The tests are believed to be the first of their type to be conducted anywhere in the world.

Taber Predicts Spending Boost

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Taber (R-NY) said today he has heard that the Truman administration "is working on a scheme to increase the price of gold and devalue the dollar."

He didn't say, in a prepared statement, where he obtained his information, but said that was his "understanding." "The Truman program," Taber said, "calls for onerous increases in spending."

Plunging Purple Neckline Features New Male Fashion

PARIS — (AP) — Plunging purple neckline and all — the new look for men has been unveiled in Paris.

It's all because tailor Gaston Walterner believes man today is in a state of "festimentary inferiority." Walterner Wednesday showed an audience of 500 what he would do about it.

Four young men from the conservatory of dramatic arts — there were no male fashion models to be had — turned and walked about to show 16 such confidence-boosting ensembles as:

A black ski outfit, with red paisley scarf and green-laced boots; finger-lenth coats;

Alligator skin shoes with inch-high crepe soles;

An equally prune-hued tailcoat, with opera cape of lighter purple sporting an elaborate antique silver chain clasp.

A sample comment came from a British reporter (who wore a poison green tweed jacket, nonmatching slacks, grey pullover and red and blue necktie hanging outside):

'If I'd known what was coming up, I'd have worn my dungarees."

Truck Driver Stoned, Hurt

NEW PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Sheriff Paul Pancher of Tuscarawas county last night reported that a coal truck driver had been seriously injured by a band of 10 or 12 men who stoned his truck.

Pancher identified the driver as William Butts, 49. He said Butts was struck on the chest, arms and back while driving a semi-trailer truck through Barnhill.

The violence was the first reported here since Oct. 4 when coal operators obtained an injunction against interference of their operations by striking United Mine Workers.

Sound Sense In Taft's Address

THE ONLY REGRET, in connection with Senator Robert A. Taft's talk in Mansfield yesterday, is that it was not heard by many thousands of the people of this city and vicinity rather than by only a few hundred in attendance at the joint meeting of Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs.

His talk was so plain, so understandable and so convincing, and his sincerity was so apparent, that few if any of his hearers could doubt the advantages of the national course which he advocates instead of the trend toward extension of federal government control over industry, business, and agriculture—and resultant hampering of individual freedom, such as is being imposed upon the people of England under the socialist-labor regime.

Explanation of a number of the administration-sponsored proposals leading toward extension of government controls was a part of the address, with emphasis on the unpredictable costs of such a program.

In the face of such a frank, factual recital by a recognized authority on national affairs, there is an element of absurdity in a remark recently made by James "Caesar" Petrillo, czar of the musicians' union, at a meeting of his union in Hoboken, N. J. Quoting Mr. Petrillo: "Mr. Taft, in 1950 we're going into Ohio, and believe me, there will be nothing we won't do to knock your silly head out of the U. S. Senate and keep it out."

Information is also to the effect that leaders of some union labor groups are planning to direct unlimited funds into the 1950 Ohio campaign in an effort to defeat Senator Taft, because of his association with the Taft-Hartley law.

If the lines are to be so drawn the re-election of Mr. Taft will be more assured than were the division of votes to be along political party lines.

An Appreciation of Ben Forkner

EXEMPLIFICATION of an unusual number of the traits which stand high in making "a good life" is found in considering the fine contribution which Ben W. Forkner made to this community during the almost 45 years of his residence in Mansfield.

Quiet and unassuming in manner, but capable in his work and earnest in the furtherance of varied constructive activities, to which he gave liberally of time, effort and financial support, Mr. Forkner made for himself a place in this community which will long stand as an example of the influence that can be exerted by one person who regards service to others as a part of his duties and privileges.

Religion played a large part in development of qualities of character which Mr. Forkner displayed in admirable ways in all of his associations, with his church always in the forefront of interest.

The Boy Scout movement, as it was introduced in Mansfield, gained his active participation in leadership, as did also the YMCA, which he served faithfully and well for many years.

As is inescapable in human affairs, deep sorrow came into the family circle of Mr. Forkner, but the faith which had been manifest throughout his lifetime was evidenced during that dark period.

This community suffers a distinct loss through the death of Ben Forkner, for, as is being sincerely said by many of those who knew him well, "he was a good man."

Why Not Write That Letter?

THAT LETTER—the one you have been intending to write to a relative or friend, but have been "putting off" because you have been so busy with other things.

Well, starting next Sunday, a week is to be devoted to urging that you make a special effort to write and mail the letters that are long overdue.

Letters from absent children to their parents are always highly appreciated, and keeping up correspondence with friends also provides much pleasure and retains friendships.

Practice in letter-writing by school children can be made a valuable part of education and next week can well be made a special period of activity along this line.

Things Young Driver Should Learn

THE CONTRIBUTION of the youthful automobile driver to the highway accident rate is receiving much study from people who work with highway safety. At the recent national conference on high school driver education, a chief conclusion was that high school education in driving would go far toward solving the problem.

The many unjustified risks taken by the young driver mostly stem from lack of responsibility, it was decided, and better education might help to supply that lack. This sounds reasonable. Greater parental interest in the youngsters' driving habits might help, too.

This new book, "The Ohio", looks almost as long as the river itself, but then maybe it flows along as smoothly, too.

Pensions Go Beyond Mere 'Bargaining'

DURING the current strikes a good many people are seriously asking whether pensions are, after all, an appropriate subject for collective bargaining.

In using the term "collective bargaining," they mean it in the usual sense of determining by mutual agreement between two parties—management and labor—the terms of a labor contract for a term of a year or two.

There is much to be said for this point of view, despite the fact that, under the pressure of governemtn, collective bargaining will temporarily settle this issue and fire up the furnaces once more.

The reasons why collective bargaining by management and labor is no solution for pensions are numerous and important.

One is that a principle is involved which, once agreed upon, goes far beyond the terms of a one- or two-year contract. It involves policies which must be carried on by futiire union leaders and managers, long after Murray and Fairless are in their graves. The steel companies are called upon to mortgage a long future. That is not the case when wages and hours are determined by agreement.

Another point is that the pension demand, if agreed to, involves many more interests than those of the bargaining parties. It is a charge upon a long series of consumers. It is, in effect, a continuing tax upon the whole economy, extending far beyond the term for which excise taxes are ever levied.

In fairness, all those who pay should be parties to the bargain. But the practical difficulties involved make such general agreement out of the question. This point is theoretical but nevertheless important.

* * *

Coordination Necessary.

IN SUCH cases where a generality of interests is involved, government becomes the appropriate representative of the public interest. But this government — the Truman administration—has long since surrendered its trusteeship of the public interest. It has allied itself with one party to the dispute.

The interests of politics have supplanted the constitutional ideal of the general welfare. This point, too, is theoretical but deeply significant.

On another and most important side the government has a responsibility. This proposed pension — all private pension plans—must be considered in relation to all government pension systems and plans, federal and state.

Ultimately, there must be some coordination, some equalization in the name of justice. For otherwise we shall build a colossally powerful aristocracy of pensioners who draw privileged benefits merely because they happen to be employed in trades and industries with the power to throttle the whole economy with strikes.

Somewhere, sometime, there must be a national commission comprising many interests, non - political and impartial and under the sponsorship of Congress, to consider the whole issue and to make recommendations to all concerned.

Finally, in a pension system the sacredly important issue of trusteeship is profoundly important. Under long-established and wholly wise tradition, when values are involved which extend beyond the lifetime of those who create such values, a trustee is required—independent of beneficiaries and benefactors.

They must see that the terms of the bequest, grant or benefit are honestly and rigorously preserved and enforced. The Lewis welfare scheme makes only a feeble gesture in that direction. Actully, the Lewis beneficiaries are the trustees, a travesty of trusteeship.

* * *

Administration Problem.

ARE these new accumulations to be administered by the companies collectively or individually? By the unions and companies jointly or by someone else? If by unions, what is their responsibility?

The only real requirement that they be financially responsible is in Taft-Hartley, about which the Truman government and the unions are howling for repeal.

If, under joint duress by government and unions, the companies agree to a plan which they know to be a fraud, how can they in conscience participate in its management? They know, and every person who can use a pencil must know, that an adequate pension cannot be bought with a few cents an hour. What honest man could act as trustee for "pie in the sky"?

Such issues are not fit subjects for collective bargaining under duress.

The Old Professor

By LOIS ADAMS BYERS

THE BOYS and I went to call on their father's English teacher. Always at our home, there has been a legendary character, whose career as a college professor was mentioned with veneration.

"It was L. L. Garber who taught us how to make our thoughts march," my husband would comment. "You remember him?"

"I never met the man, but you pointed him out to me—a thin wisp of a man on a high-wheeled old-fashioned bicycle, riding along the streets of Ashland (Ohio)."

* * *

A DIM light shone from the old house opposite Ashland college. I stopped on the porch, with the four boys in tow, and we looked through the glass door into a room lined with books. The single shaded lamp illumined a desk. A lean dark shadow of a man could be half-discerned, reclining in the chair with back toward us, his feet high on the desk top. The top of a sleek head was just visible.

I tapped timidly, having pressed the button and heard no answering jingle. The shadow leaped up, switched on an overhead light, threw the door open.

I told who I was and introduced the boys, youngest first. They stood like stairsteps while kindliness filled the little room and the old man's keen glance took in the situation.

"So these are Calvin's boys! Well, boys—glad you've come."

"Their father was always grateful to you for making literature come alive for him," I said. "Did we disturb you, perhaps?"

"Oh, no; I was just listening to a radio discussion."

"I'm curious as to what programs you enjoy."

He laughed. "Most all of them " and I believed him, too. He had an artist's face—an artist's warm enthusiasm, stimulating curiosity, contagious joy. He had shared emotion and music for many years and kept for himself the best qualities of childhood. So he knew how those boys felt, awkward with a new emotion, unexpectedly s w e e t. They will never forget their father's teacher!

"Read lots of good books, boys," he said at parting. "It's your job to climb on your father's shoulders . . . let me know how you get along, please do."

It was a happy occasion. "Time cannot bend the line that God has writ," said Thoreau. "The hours that make you happy make you wise."

Truman Turns Sour Against Anderson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Only a few insiders know it, but President Truman has turned sour against his former secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson. In fact, the other day the President hurled his favorite insult against Anderson, now serving in the Senate from New Mexico. He called him a "big-interest man."

What prompted this bitter epithet was Anderson's fight against flat, 90 per cent farm supports.

The President had long suspected that Anderson was quietly knifing the Brannan farm plan, but the clincher came when Anderson urged a "compromise" 75 to 90 per cent, flexible price - support scale.

Anderson had spread the impression that the President was backing his compromise. Puzzled, a congressional visitor put the questions warily to Truman.

"In the Senate," he said, 'Elmer Thomas (of Oklahoma) quoted you as being for 90 per cent parity, while Dick Russell (of Georgia) said he understood you were against 90 per cent."

"I don't know how Dick got that idea," Truman broke in.

"Senator Anderson seems to have taken command," added the congressman. "Personally I don't care for Anderson's philosophy."

"Well, Clint Anderson is a big-interest man," declared the President firmly.

"As between Anderson's bill and straight 90 per cent parity," Truman continued, "I naturally favor 90 per cent because we campaigned on that basis."

The president added that, of all the farm bills that had come out, he liked Congressman Stephen Pace's the best, because the Georgia congressman had included the production payment feature of the Brannan plan.

Referring again to Anderson, the congressional visitor pointed out that big-interest men who pose as liberals are much more dangerous than out-and-out reactionaries.

"There is no question about that," agreed the President emphatically.

Note—Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan has been fretful over Anderson's opposition, but hasn't raised his voice against his former boss — because Charlie owes his job to him.

John L. Lewis Roars.

JOHN L. LEWIS was at his roaring best when the coal operators met with Federal Mediation Chief Cy Ching on their first try to settle the coal strike. While the meeting got nowhere, it certainly didn't lack sound effects.

The northern operators —led by Harry Moses, president of U. S. Steel's H. C. Frick company, and George Love, of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company—suggested that negotiations be based on Lewis's last contract, which expired June 30. The southern mine owners, led by Joseph Moody, didn't want to go this far, contending there should first be reforms in the welfare fund.

Boiling mad, Lewis thundered: "I will not discuss the old contract. Unless yo gentlemen are willing to talk about increased wages and payments into the welfare fund, as well as reduced working hours for the men who toil underground, there is no purpose in my remaining here."

Turning a baleful glare on Moses, Love and Moody, he added wrothily that he might have known he would be wasting his time endeavoring to deal with "these economic puppets of the United States Steel company and the Cleveland Trust company."

The operator trio chuckled. They had been called worse names than this by the eloquent miners' boss.

* * *

Captive Mines.

"WHY, you have no authority to speak for your bosses in U. S. Steel or the Cleveland Trust company," Lewis went on, referring to the Cleveland bank's interest in Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal and U. S. Steel's ownership of the H. C. Frick Co. "So, why do you waste my time? If it was a question of matching your authority in the United Mine Workers, I would send five of my local union presidents to deal across the table with you."

The operators r e m i n d e d Lewis that he shouldn't accuse them of making no "offer" to settle the strike, since he had made no specific offer himself.

"I have labor to sell," replied Lewis. "It's up to the operators to bid for it."

* * *

Ching Gets Wordslide.

MEDIATOR CHING diplomatically remarked that the coal strike could never be mediated and settled until both sides showed a more cooperative attitude. But this provoked another wordslide from Lewis.

"What do you mean by mediation?" he demanded. "Why don't you use some on the operators to make them stop their high-handed oppression of labor?"

"I have no authority to make either side in this dispute do anything," replied Ching. "All I can do is bring you together and help you settle your differences."

"Then what are we talking for, if you have no authority?" bellowed John L. "Haven't you the interest of the American people at heart? Don't you know the difference between right and wrong?"

"Now, wait a minute," retorted Ching, curbing his temper. "No one is more desirous of seeing the coal mines back in production than I am, but this strike will never be settled without some give-and-take by both sides. I can only suggest and make proposals as we go along. I can't force either of you to accept anything. I'm no arbitrator."

On this note, the meeting finally broke up.

Note — There is little prospect of settling the steel strike until the coal strike is settled. For the steel companies won't start their furnaces until they are sure of coal.

Assignment: America

Those Peaceful Swiss

By INEZ ROBB

LOCARNO — This is another one of those famous cities the Swiss are always renting out from time to time to warring nations in need of another peace treaty or non-aggression pact.

The only active part the Swiss, who have a genius for minding their own business, take in such treaties is to collect beaucoup board and room from the delegates and solicit their business the next time they have peace on their minds.

In the past three days, however, I have seen ample evidence that the Swiss fully realize eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. From the Rhone Valley onwards, I have seen one Swiss military airfield after another, with their rows of hangars built half into the earth and neatly camouflaged.

The white concrete landing strips gleam like alabaster in the green Swiss valleys, and the roar of their planes in formation overhead echo back from the mountains.

Just before we reached Brig, we encountered large groups of trainees out on tank maneuvers. Scattered through the country, we have come across heavy concrete tank traps that my ex G.I. spouse says were certainly erected to discourage any would-be-invader during World War II.

I'm afraid both of us would have been sorely puzzled by the heavy steel doors we have noted chiselled into the granite walls of Alpine crags if we had not seen, the day before we left America, the first pictures released by the Swiss government showing the mountain fortifications installed during and since World War II.

Unless we had seen the pictures, the doors into the mountains would certainly have made no sense. But now we realize these doors open on tunnels in which nest artillery both great and small.

* * *

Peaceful But Prepared.

I CONFESS that I have never heard of a Swiss general in my life, unless Wilhelm Tell worked himself up to that rank. But since the nation has a form of universal military training, I suppose there must be a Swiss general someplace in the picture.

But since no Swiss general has ever been caught in a deep freezer or talking out of the wrong side of his mouth at a cocktail party, no one—naturally—has ever hard of Swiss brass.

Last night at Andermatt, a Swiss village that looks like a Shubert musical comedy set for a Graustark romance, we caught up with two Swiss Lieutenants and two captains as well as innumerable enlisted men.

There is a large military installation at Andermatt.

After dinner we drifted over to a small inn where we heard a hot accordion giving out with "The Beer Barrel Polka." The room was full of young boys in ill-fitting gray-green uniforms and shoes with the thickest soles I have ever seen.

I talked with a half dozen Swiss G. I.'s and we finally got around to Russia's possession of the atomic bomb or reasonable facsimile thereof.

One of the boys said he didn't think this fact would upset the Swiss.

"You drop a bomb on the Alps and what happens?" demanded this young philosopher. "It might rearrange them, but what good does that do? You've still got a lot of mountains left."

I agree with this Swiss junior Eisenhower. The Alpine barrier, as is or rearranged by the atom, is still one of the most formidable military obstacles known to man. Any one who would tackle it ought to have his head examined—and probably would have, by the Swiss.

In the meantime, this nation of 4,000,000 is armed, soldiered and at the ready. Within an hour, she can blow up every railroad tunnel within her border.

Furthermore, she has a secret weapon. It is, in fact, the only one she really needs. It is the one with which her ancient robber barons, whose vast and picturesque fortress-castles still dot her landscape, used so successfully to defend their domains.

All the Swiss need do to protect their country is to place a detachment of troops, plenty of fire-wood and a pot of pitch on every crag. Let the boys keep the pitch pot boiling and at first sight of an enemy, let some Swiss Casey lower the boom.

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, India's first prime minister, is paying us a visit and it's a great chance to see a leader of genuine stature, great dignity and spiritual glow. He's that rarity in the world scene, a leader of millions who doesn't act as if he thought everything depended on a big smile for the photographers.

He won't even pose fishing, putting a wreath on a race horse, judging a beauty contest or indorsing a channel swim.

Nobody would ever think of slapping Nehru on the back. I feel the world leaders of the future are going to be a lot on that pattern.

Nehru's Visit To U. S. Is Important

A DOZEN years from now we are likely to be reminding ourselves that arrival of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on his first trip to this country was a far-reaching event.

The prime minister of India is one of the outstanding leaders of our time. As head of this great new nation, with its population of more than 300,000,000, Nehru already is demonstrating a leadership which is making itself felt throughout Asia. His influence on world unity will be vast.

Therefore Nehru's visit to Washington becomes a matter of moment. For upon the impressions which this brilliant and highly sensitive guest forms may well depend future relations between the United States and an India which is going to play a dominant part in the development of the Orient.

Nehru, who will be 60 on the 14th of next month, not only was born into a family of great wealth but he is a Kashmiri Brahmin—the highest aristocracy of all India. He was educated in England. He attended Harrow, one of the country's famous "public" schools (really private) and at the University of Cambridge. Later he studied law in London and returned to his native land as a polished intellectual, who had the marks of genius.

At the outset he showed little interest in the independence movement, but soon he joined and thereafter devoted his whole life to the ideal. He became one of the most devoted disciples of Mohandas K. Gandhi and followed the saintly little mahatma faithfully in the drive for Indian independence until the latter's assassination on January 30, 1948.

The disciple, like the master, became a plague to the British and he was several times in prison, serving all-told some 13 years. Like Gandhi, Nehru toured the highways and byways of India to preach independence to the people until he became an object of hero worship among the masses.

Nehru is an internationalist and a socialist and is a bitter opponent of dictatorship. He is, however, what might be described as a middle-of-the-road socialist.

He believes in what he calls a "mixed economy" in which the state assumes management of key industries but still allows plenty of chance for private enterprise to operate.

And there you have the personality who now is getting his initial first-hand impressions of our country. As previously remarked, those impressions are going to be vastly important.

OVERHEAD ROUTE—An engineer's drawing of the proposed overhead highway, which would stretch from Rowland avenue to Howard street, has been submitted to the city engineering department. The structure, which will carry four lanes of traffic, would give the north section of the city an unobstructed link with the west side and downtown areas. It would cost about $600,000 and would extend some 1,420 feet over the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads and Touby's Run. Such a project has been discussed in Mansfield for many years, but the cost has delayed action. The proposed overhead is still definitely in the "discussion stage," city officials said.

City Gets Rowland Avenue Viaduct Plan

A project talked about in Mansfield for about 25 years has finally reached the point where engineer's plans and estimates have been obtained.

The project — an overhead highway to give the north section of Mansfield an unobstructed link with the remainder of the city—would cost in the neighborhood of $600,000.

The proposed viaduct would extend some 1,420 feet from Rowland avenue to Howard street. It would span the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads and Touby's run.

The engineer's drawing of the proposed project shows an impressive structure with four-lane traffic and five-foot sidewalks.

Two bridges—one 226 feet long and the other 137 feet long —would span the two railroads. An earth embankment would fill the space between the two bridges.

The plans call for 24-foot traffoot traffic lanes separated by a four-foot cement strip to divide the north and southbound traffic.

In a written report to city council in December, 1948, City Engineer W. C. Statler said the best type of protected vehicular crossing from North Lake park to the north section of the city would be a concrete overpass. At that time he estimated the cost would be $600,000.

There is no crossing for vehicles between Trimble road and Bowman street, a distance of a mile and a half.

Residents of the north section of the city point out several reasons why such an overpass is needed.

For one thing, pupils at the city's school who live in the north section of the city cut across the tracks going to and from school.

Fire protection in the north section of the city is poor because of the few entrances to the area, and the danger of entrances being blocked by trains.

The north section has three streets linking it with the remainder of the city. The three streets are separated over an area of nearly three miles. That makes traffic heavy on these arteries.

To finance the proposed overpass council would have to ask the voters to approve a bond issue.

Hospital Supervisor Marks 25th Graduation Anniversary

Miss Gayle Rife, afternoon supervisor at Mansfield General hospital, celebrated the 25th anniversary of her graduation from General hospital's School of Nursing at a surprise party luncheon given by some of her hospital associates yesterday.

The honored guest was presented with an anniversary cake complete with 25 candles in honor of the occasion.

Miss Rife was graduated from the School of Nursing Oct. 13, 1924, and will have been a member of the staff at general 20 years next March.

She returned to Mansfield to accept a position as night supervisor at General hospital, a post she held until about four years ago when she became afternoon supervisor.

There was no formal program at the get-together yesterday, but Miss Rife and her associates spent the time reminiscing about the happenings of the past 25 years. Later in the afternoon Miss Rife went on duty as usual.

Attending the luncheon were Wayne A. Copeland, hospital superintendent; Miss Carrie Beal, supervisor of nurses; Mrs. Julia Raby, Miss Elaine Guiher, and Miss Naomi Linsenmayer, all instructors in the school of nursing; Miss Marian C. Charvat, hospital dietician; and Mrs. Bonnie Geib, assistant dietician.

Koch Faces New Trial

FRANKFURT, Germany, — (UP) — Ilse Koch, strawberry blonde "Witch of Buchenwald," will be tried by a German court for 29 murders and "hundreds" of assaults, authorities disclosed yesterday.

The fancier of lampshades made of tattooed human skin will complete next week a four-year term imposed by American authorities for her part in atrocities at the notorious concentration camp.

When she emerges from the Landsberg prison, German officials will be waiting to whisk her away to the women's jail at Aichach, near Munich. There she will wait for a German court at Augsburg to try her for crimes against German citizens at Buchenwald.

Before picking her up, officials will deliver an arrest warrant. It lists five counts of murder involving 29 persons, and five charges involving "hundreds of personal and instigated assaults on Buchenwald inmates.

War-Weary Airplanes Used In Ravenna Safety Tests

CLEVELAND — (UP) — A spokesman for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics yesterday confirmed that the committee's airplane "crack-up" experiments at the Ravenna arsenal are hitting a high tempo.

The experiments, which involve the crashing of 'war weary" planes into concrete obstacles to make them burst into flames, are being conducted semi-secretly at the arsenal's experimental airstrip. The test results will be the basis of a NACA handbook for civilian and military airplane designers. The book will detail fire hazards and structural flaws in aircraft construction.

"We don't like to get the public aroused until we have something definite to tell," said J. D. Tousignant of the NACA publicity department. "That's why we picked Ravenna arsenal. Otherwise, the plane crackups would draw hundreds of people."

The pilotless planes are propelled along a steel rail under the watchful eye of NACA engineers and cameramen. The tests are believed to be the first of their type to be conducted anywhere in the world.

PARIS — (AP) — Plunging purple neckline and all — the new look for men has been unveiled in Paris.

It's all because tailor Gaston Walterner believes man today is in a state of "festimentary inferiority." Walterner Wednesday showed an audience of 500 what he would do about it.

Four young men from the conservatory of dramatic arts — there were no male fashion models to be had — turned and walked about to show 16 such confidence-boosting ensembles as:

A black ski outfit, with red paisley scarf and green-laced boots; finger-lenth coats;

Alligator skin shoes with inch-high crepe soles;

A sample comment came from a British reporter (who wore a poison green tweed jacket, nonmatching slacks, grey pullover and red and blue necktie hanging outside):

'If I'd known what was coming up, I'd have worn my dungarees."

Killed By Shock

LONDON—(AP)— Robert Lyons, 57, was electrocuted yesterday when a flagpole he and another man were moving touched a 2,400-volt electric wire.

VETERAN ACQUITTED

CLEVELAND — (AP) — William C. Bucarich, 24, a veteran of the Berlin air lift, was acquitted of first degree manslaughter yesterday in the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Bucarich, 49, on Aug. 9.

Truck Driver Stoned, Hurt

NEW PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Sheriff Paul Pancher of Tuscarawas county last night reported that a coal truck driver had been seriously injured by a band of 10 or 12 men who stoned his truck.

Pancher identified the driver as William Butts, 49. He said Butts was struck on the chest, arms and back while driving a semi-trailer truck through Barnhill.

The violence was the first reported here since Oct. 4 when coal operators obtained an injunction against interference of their operations by striking United Mine Workers.

World's Full of Free Matches, But Lighters Find Ready Market

NEW YORK—In a world of free matches Americans are forking out $50,000,000 annually for gadgets to light their cigarets.

The first World War popularized the wrist watch. And what that war did for the wrist watch the second world war has done for the cigaret lighter.

"Now the flint business alone is bigger than the entire lighter industry 15 years ago," said Alfred R. Nathan, vice president of the Ronson Art Metal Works, incorporated.

The Ronson company — The equivalent of General Motors in its field—soon will market its 35,000,000th lighter.

It was founded 56 years ago by the late Louis V. Aronson, a metallurgical engineer who put the voice in the mama doll. Aronson, who died in 1940 was a pink-cheeked man with passion for maroon—he even wore maroon shirts.

"Oddly, as a young man he once won a $5,000 prize from the Belgian government for developing a safety match," Nathan recalled.

Repenting of this, Aronson turned to the mechanical lighter. His biggest contribution was a push button invention that brought the light to life with the pressure of a finger. It made him so much money he could pal around with kings. He even bought a 70-foot yacht so he could sail to see them.

* * *

"He had lighters from one end of the yacht to the other," said Nathan. "Even had one in his bathroom."

One of Nathan's present vice presidential duties is the assembling of a museum of mechanical lighters.

"In the early years they put lighters in everything from sword canes to baby shoes cast in bronze," he said.

This rococo period is dying out. The Ronson company, for example, his cut down its number of models from 1,000 to about 100.

"The thing was just getting out of hand," Nathan said.

In his museum collections are a number sent by grateful soldiers who said the lighters saved their lives by stopping flak, shell fragments or bullets. One soldier scrached his will on his lighter, "I leave everything to brother Jim," and Nathan said the will was held valid.

* * *

Why should anyone fork out $6 to $5,000 (a custom built, jewel encrusted job) for a lighter, when nearly every drug store now offers giveaway matches.

"We don't want to make any odious comparisons," remarked Nathan, indicating the match industry couldn't understand that one either.

"But people like to be modern. A lighter is modern, and people feel less awkward using them than they do matches. That's our belief anyway."

Nathan has a ready answer to scoffers who say lighters are a step back to the flint-and-steel era.

"There isn't any flint in lighter flints," he said. "They are made of ferro-cerium, an alloy developed in Europe. The alloy, when struck becomes hungry for oxygen, and the heat engendered creates the spark."

The industry hasn't yet caught up with postwar demand.

"We have barely scratched the suface," said Nathan. The industry goal is to get a pencil lighter—it lights at one end, writes at the other—in every man's vest, a combination cigaret case and lighter in every woman's purse, and a table lighter in every room.

This is why Series tickets were so tough to get. Many business firms, ad agencies and others bought them in bunches for clients. One bank purchased 1,000 strips for big depositors and stockholders.

Such goings on!

No Business Like, Etc: The Sadler's Wells Ballet delighted the Met first-nighters and Margot Fonteyn's Princess Aurora in "(Sleeping Beauty") is the talk of the town. But the luminous star of "Red Shoes" (Which is still a big clock on Broadway and throughout the nation) is given bit assignments.

The London producers of the Ballet decided not to give Americans what they want to see. Moira Shearer, the "Red Shoes" star, who for reasons of "company discipline" will be kept in the background. . .All the leads are for La Fonteyn, a magnificent ballerina, but Moira Shearer (established box-office over here) is devalued by the British producers!

Dr. Guyer To Address Retailers

Annual Dinner Set For Oct. 25

Dr. Tennyson Guyer, well-known Ohio minister and speaker, will be the principal speaker at the 25th annual dinner of the Mansfield Retail Merchants association Tuesday, Oct. 25, it was announced today by V. H. Lodde, secretary of the association.

Dr. Guyer's talk will follow dinner at 6:30 p. m. at the Mansfield - Leland hotel. The evening's program will include election of trustees, reports of the president and entertainment, Lodde said.

Dr. Guyer, who has been heard in Mansfield a number of times, as the speaker before various organizations, will use as his subject, "Business as Unusual."

He has addressed the Mansfied-Shelby Foremen's club, Business and Professional Women's club and several other local groups.

"Dr. Guyer is known as one of Ohio's most dynamic speakers and we expect that his address here on the 25th will be well worth listening to," Lodde said.

Reservations for the dinner may be made at the Retail Merchants office in the Farmers bank building. All members of the committee also will have tickets.

Rites Set Saturday

Funeral services for Ben W. Forkner, 137 Stewart avenue, prominent figure in Mansfield civic, religious, and industrial circles, will be held at the Central Methodist church at 2 p. m. Saturday, in charge of Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the church. Burial will be in Memorial park.

Mr. Forkner died at General hospital yesterday, following a brief illness.

Serving as pallbearers for Mr. Forkner will be W. C. Upson, V. S. Smeltzer, Allen Bond, H. L. Pollock, H. D Burns, and Oliver Shively.

Honorary pallbearers will be Mark Wolcott, Floyd Dent, Charles Nail, William Bauer, Harry J. Dotson, P. J. Kelley, A. L. Price, George Mead, and J. Martin Strickler.

Escorting the body from the church to the cemetery will be an honor guard composed of a squad of Eagle Scouts.

Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home until noon Saturday.

Jewelry Reported Stolen At Hotel

The second jewelry robbery at the Newman hotel, 318 North Main street, in two weeks, was reported to police yesterday by Miss Ida Hutton, a resident at the hotel.

More than $300 in jewelry was reported taken from a wash room at the hotel recently.

PAUL BEHRMAN names extortion ring members

TONI HUGHES indicted

MICKEY COHEN

HELEN KELLER indicted

EXTORTION RING FIGURES—Two Hollywood playgirls, Toni Hughes, 29, and Helen Keller, 26, are under indictment as members of a "sex extortion" ring in latest sensation in the long probe of Los Angeles vice and corruption. In grand jury testimony Paul Behrman, former talent scout, named the pair and said Mickey Cohen, alleged underworld chieftain, was leader of the ring. Another witness, Ben M. Kleckner, 51, University of Hollywood president, told jurors he had been bilked of around $3,000 over a period of years. Extortion was allegedly perpetrated by making secret recordings of parties.

Jaycees Up Membership

Expect To Top Their Quota of 200

Membership in the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce has topped 150 as the result of a member campaign, President Edward Pifer announced yesterday.

Members said they were confident the goal of 200 would be reached by the time the campaign closes Oct. 27.

The drive will be climaxed with a stag party at John Todd park Oct. 27 at 8 p. m.

William Kochheiser, Jaycee traffic and safety chairman, reported his committee distributed posters and Fire Prevention stamps to downtown business offices as part of The Fire Prevention week program.

BPW Club Plans Picnic

Members of the Business and Professional women's club are making plans for two events this month, one a picnic at Mohican park for next Sunday and the other a district meeting at Lakewood.

Miss Eleanor Ford, chairman of the health committee in charge of the picnic, said all members who wish to join in the outing should meet at the courthouse at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. There will be cars for transportation.

The district meeting is to be held in Lakewood, Sunday, Oct. 23. Persons who want to attend may notify the president, Miss Pearl Wierman.

Runaway Youth Warned By Judge

A 15-year-old Fairfax avenue boy who has frequently run away from home and has been classed by juvenile court authorities as incorrigible was warned by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer yesterday to stop his delinquent activities. He was told not to leave his home at night and that he must attend school regularly.

Manager Cleans Up Boss-Ridden City

Editor's Note—This is the third in a series of articles to inform Mansfielders about the charter question that will appear on the November ballot.

★ ★ ★

By GAYLORD HAKE

The council-manager plan of municipal government has been generally successful in other communities.

One of the most dramatic success stories of council-manager plan is the clean-up of Kansas City, Mo., which was accomplished after Political Boss Tom Pendergast's regime was replaced by a council-manager system.

Ohio has 25 cities governed by council-manager or variations of council-manager systems. There are eight council-manager governed cities among the 16 cities of Mansfield's size or larger in Ohio.

In considering the success and number of council-manager governments one important factor should be remembered. It took considerable effort — a process similar to the one being used in Mansfield — to attain a council-manager system.

Cincinnati — which turned to council-manager government, in 1926 — had the reputation of being one of the worst-governed cities in America before the adoption of the plan.

The records show in the first year the council - manager system saved Cincinnati more than $1,500,000. Public accountants, at the end of two years, said the city manager had saved the city enough money to pay his own salary for 73 years.

During the depression, when most other cities were going into debt, the gross bonded debt of Cincinnati was reduced by more than $14,000,000, despite a disastrous flood which made heavy demands on the city's resources.

Dayton was the first large city to adopt the council - manager system.

Ohio cities of Mansfield population group which have council-manager plans include Hamilton, Springfield and Portsmouth.

Talks To Club

Pupils Give Music Recital

Students of Springfield township school will present a music recital at the school auditorium today at 8:15 p. m.

L. C. Stingel, superintendent of schools for Springfield township, said about 16 pupils would participate and selections would include both vocal and instrumental music.

Participating students will include: Shirley Au, Darrel Rader, Sandra Palmer, Terry Patton, May Lou Marshall, Louise Ackerman, Mervin Marshall, Marjam Au, Mary Alice Murphy, Quentin Matthew, Romona Leatherman, piano; Dorothy Fullager and James Comstock, violin; Wesley Poffenbaugh, trumpet; Kenneth Brissell, clarinet; and Patty Hall, voice.

The students are pupils of Herbert Krichbaum, music supervisor of the school, and he will direct the recital.

Jacob Weber Dies At 87

Jacob Weber, 87, died this morning at his home in Weller township following an extended illness.

A former resident of 472 Pearl street, he was born Oct. 4, 1862, in Hungary, coming to this country 39 years ago. He had lived in this vicinity for the past 10 years and was a retired farmer.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Angebrudt of Kent, and Mrs. Mike Bribilski of Mansfield; one son, John K. Weber of Mansfield, 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral Home where services will be conducted Saturday at 3:30 p. m. by Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

4-H Band Seeks County Musicians

County Agent C. N. McGrew today asked 4-H club members in Richland county who play musical instruments to apply for membership in the county 4-H band.

The band, under the direction of William Wolford, Mansfield, R. D. 2, will perform for 4-H Achievement day, Nov. 5.

The need for musicians is chiefly in the clarinet and bass sections, the agent said.

Mansfielder Falls On Sidewalk Near Home

Mrs. Ford Borden, 121 South Willis avenue, called police about 6:45 p. m. yesterday to report that Mrs. John E. Besch, 111 Gibson avenue, had fallen because of a hole in the street in front of the Borden home.

Police said Mrs. Besch was not injured. Police notified the street department of the pavement defect.

REPORT SMALL STORM

MIAMI — (INS) — A small tropical storm kicked up heavy seas and rains today as it spun north-northeastward some 500 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Up and Down the Street . . .

STARTS EARLY—

Next week being national letter-writing week, E. B. Cappeller, former publisher of the Mansfield News, has "jumped the gun" by writing a letter which arrived this week, in which he says he would like to get back to Mansfield once more to see how the city has grown and to chat with some of his old friends, indicating special interest in seeing "the new News-Journal building." And — because of emphasis on letter-writing—it would be a fine idea for some of Ed's old friends to write him a letter expressing hope that he will come back for a visit soon. The address is 2084 Fourteenth avenue, San Francisco 16, Calif.

RATED A-1—

Mansfield's state highway patrol post is a proud place today. It rated "very good" in the annual fall inspection yesterday by state and district headquarters offices. "We had polish on everything, and the place shone," Cpl. L. G Ridenour head of the post, commented. The corporal added there was "no criticism whatsoever." The inspection was carried out by Inspector U. C. Felty and Capt. A. L. Bouton of Columbus general headquarters, and by District Lt. W. B. Vance of the district office at Massillon.

OPTIMISTIC MUSICIANS—

Perhaps they were trying to use the power of suggestion. In any event, the young musicians of the Mansfield Senior high band were not letting a rainstorm halt their practice session one damp morning recently. Down the field they came, sloshing through the wet grass and sounding off with a lively tune. The rain kept beating down, but the music continued. And the song they were playing was "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More."

Anti-Trust Violations Sought

Agents Check 3 Societies

(By Associated Press)

The U. S. Department of Justice has moved into Ohio for the first time to determine whether doctors' societies in three cities are monopolies violating federal anti-trust laws.

The Summit county Medical society of Akron disclosed today an FBI agent already has completed a three-day investigation of its files.

And in Cleveland and Columbus, the academies of medicine said the FBI wants to look at their records, too. The Cleveland academy agreed. The Columbus group still is considering.

An official of the Summit society said the investigator worked in Akron during the last three days in September.

"He traced the minutes of our meetings, our correspondence and asked for copies of all speeches our members have made since 1938," the official said.

DOCTOR PUZZLED

The president of the Cleveland academy of medicine, Dr. Herbert B. Wright, said he was puzzled.

"We don't know what they're looking for," said Dr. Wright, "but we are willing to let them look. The thing smacks of the NKVD (Russian secret police). We feel that they are looking around just to see what they can find.

"We don't deserve such attention from the United States government. The academy of medicine is no monopoly. It's just a society of doctors."

The government's interest in societies of the American Medical association is not new. The AMA figures that 22 of its suborganizations now are under anti-trust review.

One suit already has been filed—against the Oregon State Medical society. In that case, the government charges conspiracy to kill or stifle non-society medical plans.

Garrison Named As Fire 'Demon'

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison was Mansfield's Fire "Demon" today, but like his predecessors, he didn't reign for long.

At 9:30 a. m. he strolled into the barbership in the basement of the Richland Trust company, and greeted Joe Atton, salesman for the Brandt Distributing company, who asked the jackpot question "Are you the Fire Demon today?" Atton won a fire-extinguisher.

However, Fire Demon Garrison had almost lost his title just a few minutes before as he stood chatting with J. M. "Dubie" Weil on Park avenue west. A friend of Garrison's almost won a fire-extinguisher when he asked "What's the Red tie for?" but failed to follow up his question with the winning query: "Are you the fire demon for today?"

2 Win Paroles At Prison Farm

Two men, sentenced to the Ohio State penitentiary from Mansfield in 1946 and 1948, were granted paroles by the State Pardon and Parole comission today, effective Nov. 21.

Included among 69 paroles granted by the board, they are Antonio Ferrelli, sentenced from 1 to 20 years Nov. 20, 1946, for uttering a forged check, and Kenneth Crooks, sentenced to not less than one and not more than three years Nov. 8, 1948, for issuing a check with insufficient funds.

Irene Rich invariably slips out of her slippers before stepping onto a dance floor — claims its the ONLY way to enjoy tripping the light fantastic. Irene's unshod foxtrotting has become familiar to cafe society denizens all the way from Paree (Chez) to Morocco (El) and is now taken as a matter of course by people who used to stare.

Mae West cheerfully admits that she washes her face no oftener than 52 times a year. She uses gobs and gobs of cleansing cream numerous times daily, soap and water only weekly — and that's how she has managed to retain the one thing she has in common with a schoolgirl (her complexion) regardless of how much time marches on.

One woman who has never — but never — been known to bum a cigaret from anybody is screen writer Bess Meredith. Bess once took it into her head to have the most colossal cigaret case ever seen anywhere custom made for herself, and it did the trick; it's a double-decked dilly designed to accommodate the total contents of two tins of flat fifties.

One of the big differences between a career girl and a home girl is that the party of the first part has exactly twice as many homes — at least, she does in the case of television producer Martha Rountree, a fragile looking Southern-accented blonde who commutes between Washington, D. C., where her "Meet the Press" originates, and Manhattan, where her "Leave It to the Girls" is presented. Both her Washington town house and her Park Avenue apartment here are lavishly furnished and lovingly decorated, and Martha has two of everything — from wine cellar to cook — so the separate establishments can operate independently, efficiently and without interruption. She has two of everything, that is, except her magnificent set of table silver. Her flatware commutes with her when she hits the trail, and it has fed famous faces at dinner parties in both cities.

Hollywood hostesses' favorite ex-married couple are Gail Patrick and Bob Cobb, since the cinema colony's most constant social embarrassment (the dilemma of Which One to Drop After the Divorce) is superfluous in their case. Gail and Bob are always invited to the same parties, along with their new mates, because they actually add more sparkle to the gala events than they used to do — now that both are so happily married to two other people.

Billy Eckstine, like so many crooners, is a golf fanatic. When he decided to live in California and enjoy the fabulous money he was earning, he looked for a house with an 18-hole golf course on the grounds. Super-charged Mickey Rooney is without a doubt one of the movie colony's most versatile performers, and he possesses skills of which very few people are aware. One of the things he's never demonstrated to his cinema public is his talent for ventriloquism, which is considerable. Among those he has mystified at parties is Edgar Bergen, who was momentarily but completely confused one evening when he seated Charlie McCarthy on his knee and the little dummy (courtesy of Mickey) began talking without any aid from Bergen.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, October 15

It is probable that concentration on serious problems with application, sound plans and well-directed effort may avert a complex, tricky or confused situation, which is likely to involve the reputation, happiness or home ties as well as business integrity. There are peculiar developments, involving the emotional responses, although the mental attitude may be wholesome and well defined. Take time for reflection, analysis.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are likely to come upon some confused or tangled problems in which complications and emotionalism are likely to find unpleasant reactions on the private affairs. While the general disposition and point of view may be wholesome and sincere, yet subtlety or intrigue may set aside good judgment. Serious analysis and application could avert the menace of curious involvements, in business as well as at home.

A child born on this day has excellent traits for a sound and progressive career, with stability and sound judgment. Yet an undercurrent, subtle and intriguing, may prove emotionally upsetting and baffling.

SUPPER CLUB

The October meeting of the Supper Club was held with Mrs. Richard Foltz. Following the business the group enjoy'd a social hour with games. Prizes went to Mrs. Chet Huss, Mrs. Richard Foltz and Mrs. Kenneth Abbott. At a late hour refreshments were served with Halloween appointments used. The November party is planned for the home of Mrs. Carl Sand.

These molasses taffy squares, generously sprinkled with walnuts, are really good eating. A fine, moist, molasses - flavored cake, it keeps well, is a good dinner dessert, perfect to serve at a luncheon, and an ideal lunchbox filler. Again and again, you'll be asked to bake molasses taffy cake!

MOLASSES TAFFY SQUARES

½ cup shortening
¼ cup molasses
½ teaspoon soda
⅔ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped

Combine shortening and molasses and cook over low heat two minutes, stirring constantly. Add soda and brown sugar, stir until sugar dissolves. Cool. Beat eggs until light and combine with molasses mixture, blending well. Sift flour with salt; add to mixture, mixing well. Pour into greased 9x9 inch pan. Sprinkle walnuts on top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.), 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 16 squares.

Variation: Add the chopped nuts to the molasses mixture with the flour and salt, mixing well. Spread the top of the cake with a confectioners' sugar icing.

Firemen's Auxiliary Meets At Steeles

Ten members of the Auxiliary to the Firemen's Local met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. S. Steele, Lida street. Mrs. Ray Underwood conducted the business session at which time plans were discussed for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 13 at the Hotel Southern. There will be a gift exchange at that time.

Games were the diversion with prizes won by Mrs. Charles Weaver and Mrs. Frank May. Halloween appointments were used for decorations when refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Weaver, 622 Yale Drive.

Roses were among the first of all fragrant flowers to be used as perfume.

Delta Sigma Zeta Installs

The new rushees were formally installed as pledges. Each pledge received a yellow rose from her "big sister" as a token of good luck. Refreshments were served.

Lustron Now Undergoing 'Shakeup'

Board Members Now Resigning

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Lustron corporation of Columbus, is undergoing a shakeup in its management, Rep Spence (D-Ky) told the House yesterday.

A demand for investigation of the housing firm is pending in the House. Lustron, which prefabricates metal and porcelain houses, has received some $37,500,000 in government loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Spence said he understood the RFC had received resignations from four members of Lustron's board of directors and that other resignations were expected by the end of the week.

But Walter Young, assistant to RFC Chairman Harley Hise, told a reporter that the agency had learned "only indirectly" from officers of the company that three directors offered their resignations and that another director also may resign.

Young identified the three who offered to resign as "George C. Delp, a Mr. Lowum and a Mr. Buckley."

A stockholders meeting was scheduled by Lustron for "about the end of the month" at which time the resignations could be accepted or rejected, the RFC official said.

The House also heard from Rep. Cole (R-Kas) that "political intrigue" was involved in granting the RFC loans to Lustron

Cole, who has demanded an investigation of the loans, is leading a move to eliminate from a pending bill a provision authorizing federal loans totaling $25,000,000 to aid prefabricated house makers in marketing their product.

The Kansas representative charged the provision was meant primarily for Lustron's benefit, but Spence denied this.

When Spence reported the pending reorganization of Lustron management, Cole reported that the company has been "mismanaged with the consent and advice of the RFC."

Postal Committee Approves Proposal For Higher Rates

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An addition of approximately $129,000,000 to the nation's mail bill was recommended Thursday by the House post office committee.

This is about half the amount asked by Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson to meet part of an annual deficit Post office operations currently are running around half a billion dollars a year in the red.

The committee approved only about 10 per cent of the increase asked on newspaper and magazine mailing rates. It slapped the heaviest charges against the penny postcard and parcel post.

The total increases approved by the committee in each postal class are:

Second class (publications), $13,500,000. The post office department had asked a total of $125,000,000

Post cards, approximately $36,000,000, with the penny post cards upped from one to two cents

Third class, approximately $23,000,000. The principal increase would come from a hike in bulk mailing charges from one to 1½ cents a pound.

Fourth class (parcel post), approximately $40,000,000. Parcel post packages would be increased about five cents each, with most of the increase applied to the first pound.

UN Hears Red Views On Greece

Secret Atomic Parley Follows

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y — (INS) — Russia outlined her position on the Greek civil war Thursday in a half-hour secret conference with the United Nations Balkan conciliation committee.

The importance of the Soviet statement was underlined by the presence of Jacob Malik at the meeting. Alexander Panyushkin, the Soviet ambassador to Washington, spoke for the Russians in an earlier meeting with the four - man group.

U. S. Delegate Benjamin Cohen also appeared Cohen, who arrived late for his separate meeting, remained closeted with the committee for about ten minutes.

A U S. delegation spokesman said afterwards that the American delegation was "neither pessimistic nor optimistic" on the conciliation talks and was waiting for the group's report next Monday. He refused to elaborate.

Meanwhile, authoritative western opinion stuck to the belief that neither the action nor attitude of the top Soviet representatives in the past few days indicate a compromise was in the offing on international atom control.

The atomic sponsoring powers met again Thursday afternoon in a private meeting to discuss the possibility of reaching an agreement.

Mansfielder Gets 2nd Old Pennsylvania Dutch Bible

The cherished, hand-painted prayer book of a Pennsylvania Dutch girl of 1808 now is the equally coveted possession of Roy M. Vaney, 533 Park avenue west.

Varney, who claims some Pennsylvania Dutch in his Nordic ancestory, also has a second prayer book of 1820 vintage and presumably from the same locale.

Both books, written in German and containing many musical adaptations of the Psalms, were given to Varney in the early 30's, by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Leo Hoeffler of Ashland. Mrs. Hoeffler who is an antique buyer, purchased the prayer books among the Amish settlers near Loudonville. Both were printed in Lancaster, which Varney presumes to be the Pennsylvania city.

Inscribed in delicate Gothic script in the 1808 prayer book is the name: "Barbara Kaufmann." The name, done in greyed-orange, appears to have been set down in water colors probably dyed with the juice of wild berries.

On the inside binding and fly leaf are free-hand painting of the Pennsylvania Dutch tulip design, also executed in the water color in a combination of greyed-orange, deep gold and black The conventional design of the tulips on the inside binding springs from an orange vase Above the arrangement is a short prayer, also inscribed in the paint

Varney points out the excellent preservation of both the heavy leather book bindings, which are soft and glossy with age and use, and the paintings which look as if they might have been done in the past year. Only the water-marked pages of the books, evidently made of a rag composition, and the little leather straps which held the prayer books compact, attest to the more than a century of age.

Varney has a feeling that book collectors might well be interested in his prayer books, but they're not for sale. He'd like to see them in a museum where others might enjoy them. Varney is assistant manager of the H. L. Reed company here.

No Storage, No Loan Says Government

Midwest Has Huge Crop of Storage Bins

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO — (AP) — The mid-west has a new crop this year — storage bins. Wooden bins, steel bins, aluminum bins, all kinds and types of bins, have sprouted up from the corn belt earth.

The bins are needed to store corn. Unless corn is stored in a bin, farmers can't get a loan from the government on their grain. And the price for corn at markets is much less that the government will loan on it.

In addition to building new bins, farmers are emptying out old ones. These bins have stored 1948 crop corn. Now, farmers are turning that corn over to the government in preparation for housing the 1949 crop.

The mid-west is bursting with corn. There never has been so much. This year's crop is only slightly less than last year's record breaker. In addition, there's far more corn left from the previous crop than there was last year.

Corn production this year is estimated by the Agriculture department at 3,477,000,000 bushels. From the 1948 crop, there are about 800,000,000 bushels still left. That gives a total corn supply of 4,300,000 bushels, by far the largest of record.

About two thirds — or 556,000,000 bushels — of the corn left over from last year is now owned by the government. It must find space to put this corn.

The government is offering to pay farmers if they'll keep 1948 corn in their cribs on farms. Also, it has space for about 45,000,000 bushels, is building space for about 20,000,000 and will tracted private warehouse space for about 20,000,000 ns will store about 20,000,000 in what it calls "flat space."

All this effort, on the part both of the government and individual farmers, is to keep corn out of the market place. Even so, enough corn is coming to marked to force prices under the government loan.

This loan varies by counties, but averages $1.40 a bushel on a national basis. At Chicago, the loan figures out at $1.52. But new crop corn is selling here at around $1.20, or more than 30 cents a bushel less than the government will loan on the grain.

Reason for the selling at such a big discount is that some farmers don't have storage room. Therefore, they have to sell. No storage, no loan.

Tygers Seek 4th Straight Over Euclid

2 Winning Streaks At Stake Tonight

The football Tygers of Mansfield Senior high school put in their final pre-Massillon licks tonight against Euclid at 8 o'clock at Arlin field.

However, the Senior high footballers cannot afford to look beyond tonight's battle if they expect to keep their current three-game winning streak intact. Euclid has been getting progressively stronger this season and boasts an undefeated record of four straight victories.

Mansfield will go into the game a slight favorite but will have to be "up" all the way. Although having lost one game, the Tygers are rated better than 90 per cent of the unbeaten Ohio high school teams as the season hits its half-way point tonight. Senior high plays at Massillon next Friday.

Coach Augie Morningstar will again go along with the lineup which has been in effect most of the season. The only change in starting offensive assignments this season has been the insertion of Big Esker Jordan at left-half. The husky junior is the biggest member of the Tyger varsity squad.

Jordan still will play second fiddle to the fine running combination of Little Tommy Tucker and A. C. Jenkins, the ground - eating whizzes. Tucker and Jenkins have accounted for 813 of the 889 yards made by the Bengals this year.

From the looks of things at the Tyger practice camp this week the pitch-catch combination of Don Cline and Ed Demyan will get another workout tonight. Little Don and Lanky Ed have teamed up on nine completions for 121 yards. Jenkins is the No. 2 receiver.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Euclid sports a sizeable weight advantage over the Tygers and has a corking good fullback in Bob Marich, a 195-pound giant. Marich is the state's high school wrestling champ and a fine shot-putter. He shares the offensive burden with 165-pound Tom Srpan who can do just about everything with a football.

Quarterback George Blanchfield is the passer.

Schafer Gets Three TD's In Simpson Win

Halfback Jim Schafer romped for three touchdowns last night to lead the John Simpson junior high football team to a 20-6 victory over the Madison reserves at the Madison athletic field.

Schafer scored touchdowns in the first second and third periods, all after long sustained marches drove into the shadow of Madison's goal line. Paul Jaynes threw 11 passes and completed six for many of the Bulldogs long gains.

The game was a wide-open offensive battle as Simpson rolled up 20 first downs and Madison 18 in the forty minutes of playing time. Two players were injured in the game. Madison's Dave Walker suffered a torn ligament in his right knee and Jaynes of Simpson got the same injury.

Ashland High Rated Even With Shelby

SHELBY — When the Shelby Whippets play host to the Ashland eleven tonight at Skiles field, the Whippets will be out for revenge.

Last year, the Ashland A's drubbed the hapless Whippets 26-to-0 in a contest that had been picked as an even battle and increased their win column to four straight over the Shelby eleven.

Again this year the teams are rated even, however, the A's will discover that this year's Whippets have learned the rudiments of rackling and the forward progress may not be as simple as it was in last year's upset.

Although the A's defeated a strong Fostoria team 18 to 14 last week, the hard and elusive running of Jim Berry and Clancy Fackler gives the Whippets a slight edge in tonight's tilt.

This plus the fact that the lightweight Shelby line has been stopping the best in the league and plus the outstanding linebacking of Dinty Moore and Mark Lindsey indicates that the A's will have their hands full.

If the Shelby line can break Berry or Fackler loose into the secondary it can mean the end of Ashland's winning streak over the Whippets.

Rickey's Barter Shop Is Open For More Business

NEW YORK — (UP) — Brother Branch Rickey's baseball barter shop (cash on the barrel head) was open for business today with likely customers invited to follow in the footsteps of contented Charley Grimm.

The Chicago Cubs, Mr. C. Grimm vice-president, are the latest team and the first since the World Series to plunk cash on the Rickey counter for a couple of those touted young Brooklyn Dodgers. Joining the Cub roster today are left-handed Pitcher Paul Minner and First Baseman Preston Ward.

In return for these precocious players, the Cubs deposited the usual bundle of dough in the Dodger bank account. Rickey wasn't saying how much, and the popular guesses were running from $60,000 to $100,000.

"I'm ready to do business with anyone who can strengthen the Dodgers," said Rickey after completing the Cub deal.

Ashland Eagles Host Defiance Grid Team

ASHLAND—Ashland college seeks its fourth win in five starts here Saturday in Redwood stadium before an expected huge "Parent Day" crowd. Kick-off time is 2 p. m. The Hilltoppers will play host to Defiance college.

WATG-FM announced today that the Ashland frequency modulation station will carry the play-by-play description of the game beginning at 1.55.

The Ashland Eagles will attempt to get back into the win circle after dropping a 28-25 upset count in Findlay college last Saturday night. The Eagles' wins have been over Rio Grande (38-0), Ohio Northern (12-0) and Cedarville) 32-21.

Although the Eagles' winning streak was stopped at ten last Saturday, they'll be working on another one in the coming contest. Ashland hasn't lost on its home field since 1947 when the Eagles dropped a 24-to-0 count to Wittenberg.

Last year, they won four contests and tied one on home soil. The wins were over Bluffton, Rio Grande, Hiram and Kenyon. The Otterbein tilt was a 7-7 draw.

Although the Eagles' record outshines that of Defiance, Coach George Donges says that there's no room for over-confidence on his team. All of Defiance's losses have been in out-of-state competition. They were defeated by Albion (30-0), Valparaiso (25-0), Adrian (21-7) and Gannon (19-9.)

Defiance will be putting alot of their winning chances on Dean Brubaker, freshman halfback flash from Medina high school. In his junior year at Medina, Brubaker led the state scholastic scoring with 149 points.

"Parent Day" is an inauguration on the Hilltop. It replaces the annual "Dad's Day" game. In "Parent Day," both the father and mother of the Hilltop player are special guests and will be seated in a special section in the stands.

Rams Battle Undefeated Loudonville

Red Birds Boast Four Top-Heavy Pigskin Wins

By CHARLEY STINE

Madison's upset-minded Rams will make their fifth attempt to spill the dope bucket at 8 o'clock tonight when they invade Loudonville for a game with that city's undefeated Red Birds.

Madison has bowed four straight times in a "murderer's row" schedule and will be a definite underdog again tonight. Loudonville was Mohican league co-champs last year and has run roughshod over four opponents so far this season. Statistically, Loudonville is the No. 1 team in the district, having scored 121 points to its opposition's 20.

"Maybe that's our secret weapon", Coach Ennis Walker said last night. "Nobody gives us a chance in this game, and our boys are out to prove different. If we show the same fight we did in the last quarter last week, we will give them trouble."

With freshmen and sophomores dominating the lineup, Madison completely outplayed Canton South at the end of last week's game, although losing 18-6. It was the best showing of the Rams so far this year.

None of the freshman or sophomores will start tonight but they will get first call if the starters do not click. Four juniors and seven seniors will be in the opening lineup.

Walker said that Pedro Pryor and Norm Hughes, the converted guards would start at the halfback slots. Roger McBride will start at fullback and Ray Enderle at quarter with the line composed of Russ Glenn and Marty Keipp at ends, Bruce Armstrong and Norm Walker at tackles, Bill Remy and Lloyd Rissler at guards, and Bob McLaughlin at center. McBride, Enderle, Keipp and Rissler are juniors.

The Madison band will make the trip and will share the halftime activities with Loudonville's crack musical unit.

Appleseed 11 Runs Winning Streak To 10

Johnny Appleseed junior high scored its tenth straight football victory by walloping the Shelby reserves, 27-0, yesterday on the Appleseed field.

The Pioneers swept unbeaten through seven games last year and have won all three starts so far this season.

Ned Diemer was the big gun yesterday as he scored two of the touchdowns. Darce Shasky and Dave Whitzky got one apiece. Shelby never threatened the Appleseed goal line after the first quarter.

Appleseed will meet the Madison reserves as the first half a double-header next Wednesday at Arlin field. Simpson is to play the Bellville reserves in the second game.

Goes To Cards

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Vernon Rapp, catcher for the Columbus Red Birds, has been traded to the St. Louis Cardinals in a deal which adds pitcher Kurt Krieger and outfielder Lawrence Miggins to the Red Bird roster.

Blears Is Winner

Charles Puts NBA Crown On Block In 15 Rounder

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Ebony Ezzard Charles, who aspires to the title of "fightingest champion of all time," will put his NBA heavyweight crown on the block for the second time in two months tonight when he will battle Pat Valentino, a rough, tough local battler, in a 15-round bout at the Cow palace.

The champion, trained down to a trim 180 pounds and claiming he is "needle sharp," will enter the ring a 5-1 favorite to whip long-haired Valentino, who will be fighting for the first time since he won the California heavyweight crown in December, 1948.

Promoter William P. Kyne, handling Northern California's first heavyweight championship match in 40 years, predicted a sell out crowd will jam the Cow palace for the event. A last-minute buying rush of tickets yesterday afternoon and last night resulted in the placing of 600 standing-room-only tickets on sale for $3 each.

At least 17,000 are expected to pack the huge state-owned structure and pay in the neighborhood of $190,000 to see the go.

There is little betting on the outcome of the match, because Valentino, who was anything but sensational in his 1948 bouts, is believed to have past his peak in the fight business.

At 29, he is a year older than the champion — and he hasn't fought for 10 months. However, in his last three bouts, he won decisions over Freddie Beshore, Tony Bosnich and Turkey Thompson — the latter for the state heavyweight crown.

WEAR 'EM DOWN

The challenger uses a boring-in style, tossing a lot of punches to the mid section and with this system he hopes, to wear the champ down and then apply the kayo punch.

However, Charles is known as a "wear down" fellow himself and it is the general belief that he may accomplish his purpose by the end of 10 rounds.

Win or lose, too, Valentino is getting only $5,000 for his share — and this is expected to be barely enough to cover training expenses. However, he has promised to give anything left to the veterans, too.

Athletics Fire Two Veteran Ball Coaches

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The surprise firing of coaches Al Simmons and Earl Brucker by the Philadelphia Athletics has started baseball's Hot Stove league boiling in the Quaker City much earlier than usual.

"What does it mean?" asked the A's fans as they pondered yesterday's dismissal by the club's board of directors of two men often highly praised by Connie Mack.

Were Simmons and Brucker let out to enhance the position of Earle Mack as manager when his 86-year-old father decides to step down?

Does it mean that Jimmy Dykes, Athletics coach last season and one-time Chicago White Sox pilot, will step into the grand old man's shoes?

On several occasions, however, Connie has said that when (and if) he decides to retire as manager that Earle will take over. In the last few years, Earle has shared a good deal of the field responsibility with his father and ran the club during the closing days of the past season when Connie was sidelined by illness.

Dykes, who like Simmons was a member of the great athletic teams of the late 1920's and early 30's, returned to Philadelphia this year after managing Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league in 1948. He is well liked by the players and popular with the fans.

Nobody was more surprised than Simmons and Brucker over their dismissal. Simmons, a great right-handed hitter in his playing days, re-joined the A's in 1943 as a coach and in late years directed traffic at third base. Brucker, former catcher with the A's, has been battery coach for nine years.

Touch Footballer Injured In Contest

Wholesale Shifts Cinch In Majors

NEW YORK — (AP) — Unless all signs fail, there are going to be some wholesale changes in the player personnel of most major league clubs.

Still smarting over their 1949 disappointments, big league club owners are prepared to discard the stand-pat policy that has prevailed since the war years dating back to 1942.

Rose Bowl Trip Prize In Buck Battle

Cuff Stuff . . . .

By Fred Tharp

WE IMAGINE we have plenty of trouble trying to get the prognostication stogie puffing out the right answers on the college football games over this country of ours . . . But comes in the mail a letter from a young lady who really has troubles at grid games and right here in Mansfield. . . . It seems there is a group of people who have reserved seats near hers at the Tyger football games who believe in the power of speech Anyhow here's what this lady writes "We have been constantly annoyed by their yak-a-ty yak yak Last week one had the floor and her mouth went like a bell-clapper Had her subjects been a little bit about football we could have tolerated it But her gab was about ladies' silkies, Xmas presents spaghetti and meat balls, and a friend who never invites them to her home It's quite evident they weren't interested in the game but that's no reason for ruining a perfectly grand evening for those who went to enjoy the game" (The letter was signed) . We've heard that some women blow off steam about everything except football at football games but never have we heard another lady kick so definitely about the fact Anyhow 'tis a hint on what some people do not like at sporting events . . . But back to the troubles of the Stuffer and his smoke ring forecasts . . Things were a little brighter on the prognostication front last week The smoke rings foresaw 75 rights, 29 wrongs and two ties . . For the season we have 228 right, 79 wrong and six ties . . Of course, Michigan and the Stulfer continue to not see eye to eye. . . . In three cracks at the Wolverines, we've been wrong only three times . . . So this week we timidly put in a vote for Michigan over Northwestern . Sounds well on paper but before we dwell on any game let's take a quick glance around the country.

World Series Cuts Released By Chandler

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The New York Yankees' feat of winning the American league championship on the last day of the regular season and then drubbing the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series was worth $5 665 54 to the team's full-time members

That was the figure announced today by Baseball Commissioner A B. Chandler after his office force had finished figuring out who gets how much from the World Series "gate' of $1,129,627 88

The Yankees cut their $206,159 45 into a total of 36 full shares but the commissioner would not announce the names of players sharing in the division—either as to full shares or part shares

The Dodgers, who could win only one game in the World Series, cut up $137,429 64 into a total of 36½ shares That meant each player who received a full share earned $4,272 73 for his part in the series.

Division of the World Series money also extended down through the fourth place finishers on this basis

Second place Boston Red Sox —$36 814 19 into 34 shares of $1,082 77 each, St Louis Cardinals —$36 814 19 into 31½ shares of $1,165 53 plus on $100 grant

Third place Cleveland Indians—$24 542 79 into 39 shares of $629 30 each, Philadelphia Phils — $24 542 79 but the Phils have not yet advised Chandler of the number of players sharing in the split

Fourth place Detroit Tigers—$12 271 40 into 32 shares of $383 48, Boston Braves — $12 271 39 into 37 shares of $331 66 each

Two Staters Sit Tilt Out On Injuries

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The national football spotlight will swing to Ohio stadium here tomorrow when the Golden Gophers of Minnesota clash with the Buckeyes of Ohio State

The Western conference championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl is the probable prize

Fair skies and temperatures in the middle 70's were forecast and Athletic Publicity Chief Wilbur E Snapp predicted a sell-out crowd of nearly 80,000 fans

Radio and screen comedian Bob Hope was scheduled to witness the game and to be introduced to the crowd. Also expected to be on hand were Miss America — Miss Jacque Mercer of Arizona—Miss Ohio —Miss Florence Bondi—and Miss Minnesota—Miss Gloria Burkhardt

The Gophers physically fit and keyed to a fine pitch, were scheduled for a light workout on the University of Dayton gridiron this afternoon after an overnight ride from Minneapolis

Fullback Ken Beiersdorf and Halfback Ralph McAlister were reported off the ailing list and ready to go And left half Billy Bye, who was injured in the first half of the Northwestern game, was due to be back in action against Ohio State

JANOWICZ OUT

In the Ohio State camp, the Buckeyes were not quite as well off Vic Janowicz will be sidelined for at least a week with the injured ankle he suffered against Southern California Coach Wes Fesler said end Dick Schnittker will be unable to play against Minnesota because his knee injury failed to respond to treatment

Capt Jack Wilson returned to duty Wednesday and should be in shape for some action tomorrow

Minnesota's touted line which in the Gophers' three victories to date over Washington, Nebraska and Northwestern, has held opposing ball carriers to an average of 1 8 yards on the ground will be confronted by an imposing Ohio State defensive line which boasts a couple of 200 pound flankers in Charley Gilbert and Jim Hague

Completing the sextet are four mammoth tackles, Jack Jennings (6' 3" 235), Bill Trautwein (6' 4' 236), Julius Wittman (6 1", 229) and Bill Miller (6 4' 230)

A comparison of backfields also puts the Buckeyes in a favorable light, although the Ohio State team will go into the game as the underdog by about one touchdown.

Halfback Bill Bye, Minnesota's "Mr Workhorse,' has carried the ball 38 times for 193 yards a five-yard average Sophomore Dick Gregory has averaged 9 2 in 18 trips Fullback Dave Skrien has moved 134 yards in 26 tries for 5 1

For the Bucks hard-running Jerry Krall has churned 295 yards in 40 tries for a 7 4 average Big Curley Morrison has thundered for 251 in 43 trips and a 5 8 average Light footed Jimmy Clark has a 10 4 average with 114 yards in 11 carries Ray Hamilton has gained 135 yards in 16 carries for an 8 5 average And little Walt Klevay has scooted 43 yards in four tries for a 10 3 average

Queries Reasons For Loss

ANN ARBOR Mich — (AP)—Football fans aren't the only ones interested in the collapse of Michigan's 25-game winning streak—and what was behind it

The psychologist has an abiding interest in just what makes the winner fall, as Michigan did Saturday 21 7 before a smooth Army team

Dr Leon Festinger, University of Michigan assistant professor of psychology poses some questions

He suggests that the answers may lie in Michigan's two earlier performances this season a 7 3 win over Michigan State college and a 27-7 victory over Stanford

"Perhaps those victories were actually psychological defeats for Michigan," he suggests Goals or as the psychologist says 'levels of aspiration" play an important part in the psychological well-being of a team project

"Did the squad expect merely to beat Michigan State or did it expect to beat Michigan State badly? Did Michigan expect to overwhelm Stanford from the start or only after a stubborn first half resistance?"

The answer to those questions might well have indicated trouble ahead for the Michigan club

In addition winners form winning habits They don't go on the field expecting to be defeated They expect to win As a result their motivation is apt to slump

STRONGER MOTIVE

Besides the underdog's motivation to whip a winner is usually stronger than the winner's motivation to keep on winning

Against this possible psychological background, it is not amazing that the sharp army team was able to set Michigan back on its heels a position from which Michigan never was able to recover

Dr Festinger claims a 'wealth of practical information could be gained by psychologists if they could follow a football team through a season"

Notre Dame Rating In Jeopardy Saturday

Undefeated Tulane To Test Irish Club

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame's newly-won position at the top of the national rankings will be in jeopardy tomorrow in a high-geared college football program that also should shed some early light on the Rose Bowl picture.

The Fighting Irish, untamed since the last game of the 1945 season, are host to Tulane at South Bend, Ind., in the big attraction of the day.

Notre Dame is No. 1 in the Associated Press standings, picked weekly by country-wide poll. Tulane, impressive in three straight victories, ranks No. 4.

In three games to date, each of the unbeaten Juggernauts has been firm but coy on the attack, keeping a tremendously wary eye on their dynamite-filled meeting at Notre Dame stadium.

Tulane, pride of the south, hurled only 36 passes in subduing Alabama, Georgia Tech and Southeastern Louisiana. The nationally top-ranked Irish have tried the airlanes only 32 times in brushing aside Indiana, Washington and Purdue.

Obviously, neither team has been close to fully extended. That will come tomorrow afternoon when an overflow crowd of 57,000 will see two powerhouses fling off their wraps and measure off one another for the kill.

Southern folks who have been grabbing up those odds figure the betmakers don't know how boiling mad the green wave still is from the 59-6 plastering handed them by the Irish in 1947, their last meeting. Tulanes one-two punch of Fullback Eddie Price and Halfback Bill Svoboda, were young innocents in that slaughter.

GUN FOR 32ND.

The Irish will be gunning for their 32nd game without defeat. A skein launched when the opened the 1946 season with a 26-6 win over Illinois. In between, however, came a scoreless tie with Army in 1946 and a 14-14 deadlock with Southern California in last season's closing game.

Of almost equal stature are a couple of sectional frays with strong Rose Bowl significance.

Unbeaten Minnesota will play Ohio State, owning two triumphs and a tie, at Columbus, O., in the Western conference headliner, Southern California will take on the heavily-loaded California Bears at Berkeley.

These two games may, in the final reckoning, decide conference championships and throw the victors into the Rose Bowl. Both California and Southern Cal, however, must deal with UCLA, the west coast surprise team.

Five of the nation's "first ten" teams are involved in these featured wrangles. Minnesota is fifth, playing Ohio State, No. 11. California and Southern Cal are ninth and tenth, respectively.

The other top ranking elevens are down for mild skirmishes, Michigan being a possible exception. The Wolverines, jolted from the national pinnacle by their 21-7 loss to Army last week, meet Northwestern's Rose Bowl champions, already twice beaten.

The Wolverines fell from first place in the standings to seventh.

Army's stampeding legions, second ranked, are a 28-point choice over Harvard at Cambridge. Oklahoma, No. 3 plays a Kansas team that has lost three of four games. North Carolina, No. 6, should have little trouble with Wake Forest. Kentucky, No. 8, is figured able to toy with the citadel for its fifth triumph.

ATTRACTIVE MORSEL

Outstanding games tonight:

Mississippi at Boston college; Louisiana State at Georgia; Tulsa at Villanova; West Virginia at Boston U.; Purdue at Miami (Fla.); Bucknell at Georgetown.

Paper Deals End Saturday Night

NEW YORK — (AP) — Tomorrow night is the deadline for major league clubs to complete "paper transactions" with their minor league affiliates.

Baseball's "top 16" must cut their rosters to 40 or less by Saturday night. After Oct. 15 the clubs are not permitted to bring up any minor leaguer until completion of the annual player draft in Cincinnati beginning Nov. 17.

Yankees Will Not Stand Pat

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— Major league baseball finally will equal its pre-war standards in 1950, Casey Stengel predicted today as he scorned the idea that his New York Yankees could "sit pat" and keep the world championship.

As the first move toward strengthening the Yankees, the tired Stengel yesterday announced the purchase from the Oakland Oaks of outfielder Jackie Jensen, former all-America fullback at California, and second baseman Bill Martin.

'And we are ready to listen to any and all comers," old Case announced as he prepared to leave for a two-month rest at his California estate.

Stengel's chief hopes are a bit of help in the pitching department and "improvement" in the outfield — although he is confident the ailing Joe DiMaggio will be fit enough to step into his old spot next spring.

Sizing up his team, position by position, Stengel sad:

"We certanly don't need a shortstop. Tommy Henrich is the best first baseman in the league. Gerry Coleman has played splendidly at second. Third base has power, even though it may not compare to Detroit's George Kellor, Boston's Johnny Pesky. Yogi Berra, in my opinion, is the best hitting catcher in the American league and improving defensively.

"We could use a couple of pitchers and outfielders — because you can always use a better man if you can find him."

Stengel believes that both Jenson and Martin will make the grade enough to at least be carried by the Yankees.

"Jensen has size, speed, power and a terrific throwing arm," Casey sad. "Martin is the fightingest guy I've ever seen and Frankie Frisch called him the best player he had seen in the last 10 years.

"He's got a big nose," Casey laughed. "they used to take a ruler and measure his nose against Earnie Lombardi's. I ran third."

The boss man of the Ynakees also held out 1950 hope for big John Mize, used twice as a pinch hitter in the series, and Hugh Casey, the relief pitcher picked up for the stretch drive.

"Mize will go south with us. I'm sure," Stengel said. "As for Casey, if he wants to get in shape he'll get a chance."

Moving back to baseball in general, the sail-eared Stengel insisted that the pennant races would be "even tighter" next season "because the calibre of play will have picked up all over and more teams will be in there with a chance for the flag."

"Boston will be improved, you can bet," he asserted. "Detroit has a pretty good club, yes sir, and they were coming strong this season 'til they saw us and Boston. Chicago showed the greatest improvement in pitching and Cleveland has plenty of pitchers."

In line with this general improvement, Stengel intimated that he would try to get one set lineup to be used against both lefthanded and righthanded pitchers.

"I like a set team which you don't have to alternate," he asserted. "It's good to get away from that alternating of the lineup if you can. Why, 10 years ago you never would have pulled Lou Gehrig or Bill Dickey.

"They were good ball players, something that's been hard to find in the past seven years," he added. "A good pitcher will get both left and right handed hitters. A good hitter will hit both kinds.

'And that," Stengel wound it up, "is what we're looking for!"

Pat Seerey's four home runs in one game last season made him the third player to achieve that feat in this century.

Bob Carpenter Needs 3 Men To Win Flag

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Give Bob Carpenter two pitchers and a hard - hitting outfielder for Christmas and he'll predict a national league pennant for his Philadelphia Phillies.

It's still over two months before Santa Claus puts in his annual appearance but the youthful owner of the Phils asked today that we forward his requests to the jolly old gentleman.

1—An outfielder who'll hit over .300. He doesn't care whether he's a left - hander, right hander or a switch hitter. All he has to be able to do is to hit that apple hard and often.

2—A southpaw and right-handed pitcher. Of course Santa, if you'll guarantee they'll win 20 games each Bob wouldn't mind one bit.

And furthermore, if cash will help you produce what Bob wants, he is perfectly willing to shell out some of that.

But Bob is a little doubtful if Santa Claus, even with cash as an added inducement, can fulfill his needs.

"There are several outfielders around that we would like to have but they are not for sale," said Carpenter.

"And as for pitchers," he added, "we may have my desires right in our own system."

Babe Ruth—King of Swat

Wrigley Field, Chicago, in October 1932, during the 3rd game of the World's Series contest between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs.

When Babe hit, the ball flew a distance of 435 feet from home plate. This was a personal triumph for Babe because the crowd of 50,000 fans had come mostly for the purpose of razzing him.

Babe had recently criticized the Chicago Cubs for their "tightwad" policy of giving only half a slice of their World's Series melon to Mark Koenig, and forgetting Rogers Hornsby's good ball playing. Razz him they did . . . but the Bambino took it all in his stride and when the game was over, the same fans were singing the praises of the great George Herman even though he had practically killed the chances of the Chicago Cubs to win the World Series. The only regrets the Cub rooters had, was that Babe was on the Yankees team instead of the Cubs.

There will be no "regrets" when you go to Brandenburg's Used Car Lot, to purchase a used car. An excellent choice can be made from our large selection of guaranteed used cars and trucks in many makes and models. You can buy with confidence at Brandenburg's.

Galion Holds Pre-Drive Chest Rally

$14,000 Goal Faces Workers

GALION — A pep meeting, led by William Arnold of the Galion Chamber of Commerce, was held last night at the American Legion Home preliminary to the annual Community Chest campaign which will be officially launched Monday.

The goal for Galion this year is $14,000. Six chest agencies will be benefitted. They are the Child Care Center of Galion, the Boy and Girl Scout troops of Galion, the U S O, the Ohio Citizen's Council, and the Galion Youth Center.

General chairman for the drive this year is Homer Swalley, William Arnold is directing the campaign, and Mrs. Bruce Smith is general division chairman.

Last night the principal talks to inspire the workers were given by M. D. Bonsteel and Harold Newman.

Supplies were passed out to the campaigners who will make a house - to-house canvass, there was a question and answer period, and a general discussion was held at the meeting.

Plans also were made for a luncheon for division workers next Wednesday.

Scouts In Bucyrus Hold Paper Drive

BUCYRUS — Members of Boy Scout Troop 22 today were making the rounds of the city in their semi-annual collection of waste-paper.

Funds from the sale of the scrap paper will be used to equip the troop's handicraft room in the basement of the YMCA here. Tools, work benches and other miscellaneous equipment will be purchased, Scoutmaster Ed Koch reported.

Last March, the Scouts collected more than 12 tons of paper in a one-day drive. The troop is sponsored by the local Lions' club.

Shelby Gets New Elementary School Report Cards

Dr. Pierre Haver
OPTOMETRIST
307 Walpark Bldg. Ph. 3407-6
EYES EXAMINED

More Detail Provided For Parents

Distribution Due Next Week

SHELBY—A new elementary school grade card will make its appearance in many homes here next week when report cards are sent home for the first time this school year. The new card will be given pupils in Grades 3, 4, 5 and 6. It was devised by a group of local school teachers, according to an announcement today by Byron H. Carmean, superintendent of schools.

The card has been constructed so the teacher will be able to give more detailed information to parents concerning the progress of their children in the grades affected. The main part is divided into three divisions — scholarship, school citizenship and attendance.

The card is folded and small enough to be placed in a regular envelope and sent to the home. The front will bear the pupil's name, school and grade and the name of the teacher and school principal. The last part has a brief message to parents signed by Carmean.

The teacher will use the last part to designate whether the pupil has been promoted or retained in a grade. There are places on this side for the parent to sign, thus indicating they have checked the card.

Under scholarship the pupil will be graded on reading, English, spelling, writing, arithmetic, history and geography. Then, together with the grade for each of these subjects, provision has been made for the teacher to indicate improvement needed in each subject. This is done by checking certain questions which are printed on the card.

School habits, work habits and health habits are listed as major parts of the card devoted to school citizenship. Again the teacher will check the items in which improvement is desired and necessary.

The committee of teachers who worked on the new grade card was composed of R. D. McCollough, chairman; Miss Lou Sipe, Mrs. Agnes McFadden and Mrs. Lola Kemp. The committee submitted a sample card which was accepted unanimously by the elementary school teaching staff.

Carto Elected By Kiwanians

Willis F. Carto, 340 Davis road, was elected lieutenant governor of Kiwanis division seven of the Ohio district at the Ohio Kiwanians 32nd annual convention n Cleveland which ended Wednesday.

Carto is also president of the Mansfield club. Other Mansfield delegates to the four-day convention were Frank Poling, past governor of the Ohio district; Stanleigh Vinson, past president of the Mansfield Kiwanis; Barney Ford, past seventh division lieutenant governor; Lowell Bourns, secretary - treasurer; Charles Spreng, first vice president and Richard Stander and Richard Wolford, directors.

Kiwanis division 7 embraces Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Wyandot, Marion, Delaware, Holmes, Knox, Union and Morrow counties.

High Prices Lowering U. S. Milk Consumption

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Is the dairy industry—and the government, with its controls—doing all that is possible to get consumers to drink more milk?

This question is posed by the facts that (1) milk consumption is going down, (2) milk production is going up and (3) dairy income is shrinking.

In its public relations efforts to get Americans to eat a better-balanced diet, the Agriculture department has emphasized the nutritional value of milk. It says Americans should drink much more than they do.

Use of milk did go up rather sharply during the war. There were several reasons for this. They included shortages of some other foods, shortages of non-food goods which encouraged greater than normal spending for food, and government price controls which tended to keep milk relatively cheap.

But the curve of milk consumption has turned downward again. Americans are drinking less this year than last, and the department predicts they will drink even less next year.

What's back of this new downturn? There appear to be three major factors—a decline in consumer buying power, diversion of a larger share of that buying power to non-food items such as cars, refrigerators, etc., and a tendency for milk prices to remain relatively high.

Retail prices of fluid milk this year average about 20 cents a quart, only one cent less than last year's average. Yet income of the nation's dairy farmers this year is expected to be about 15 per cent less than last year.

Size of dairy income is determined in large measure by the portion of the milk supply consumed as whole milk. The larger that portion, the larger is the income. That's because producers get more for milk consumed as whole milk than for milk consumed in the form of butter, cheese, evaporated milk, ice cream etc.

A small portion of this year's milk supply is being consumed as whole milk. The balance must be sold at a lower price for manufacturing purposes.

All this raises the question: Wouldn't dairymen be better off if they made whole milk a little cheaper for consumers? It would be possible to reduce whole milk prices but still keep them above prices which manufacturers pay for the surplus.

Convicted In Veteran Fraud

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Mitchell Weisberg, vice president of the State Housing corporation, had the choice today of repaying $18,840 to 28 veterans or going to prison for a year.

Weisberg said he would pay the veterans as well as a fine of $1,000.

He and three other officials of the private concern pleaded guilty yesterday in federal court to receiving priorities to build the veterans'homes, then leaving out features included in the price.

ASHLAND — Ashland's Samaritan hospital, donation day, conducted by Ashland Civic Welfare League and Lions club, netted 2,568 cans of food and large quantites of fresh vegetables and fruits, it was announced today following the recording of the individual items of food.

The annual donation day included a collection of donations from doorsteps of Ashland homes and from schools and other central headquarters throughout the county.

Additional donations will be received Saturday when a local theater conducts a Potato Matinee for children. Admission is gained by contributing potatoes to be turned over to the hospital.

Clevelander Speaks At Crestline Fete

CRESLINE — Vincent De Nito, Cleveland attorney, was guest speaker at the annual Columbus day banquet of the local Leo Council, Knights of Columbus, in St. Joseph's parish hall. L. J. Scanlon was toastmaster.

Guests included Rev. F. A. Slattery, Rev. A. B. Nardecchi, assistant pastor at the local parish, Rev. Phillip Westhoff of Shelby Seminary, Mayor and Mrs. A. P. Sonner and Postmaster Paul Hayes.

Following dinner a social evening was highlighted with dancing. Edwin Link, Leo Council grand knight, and his committee were in charge of the program.

Area Newcomers

CRESTLINE — A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckert, Shiloh, R. D. 2, at Emergency hospital here.

CLEVELAND LADY LOST 44 POUNDS
No trouble being fitted with New Look Thanks to Rennel

"Thanks to Rennel I have lost 44 pounds," writes Mrs. M. L. Beardsley, 1632 E. 75th St. Suite 4, Cleveland, Ohio. "Before starting Rennel I weighed 189 lbs. and being only 5 ft. 1 inch tall I could hardly get around. Now I weigh 145 lbs. and at 49 years of age feel like a kid again—no trouble now being fitted with that New Look."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on and be sure to get the genuine Rennel. —Adv.
